

FURY AT 'MISERY' OF CHASE TRAINS

BY JACK AVERTY

OVERCROWDED trains that are rerouted, delayed and cancelled – Cannock Chase MP Amanda Milling has launched a scathing attack on the state of the district's railway line.

Speaking in the Commons, Ms Milling also bemoaned the 'incredibly basic' state of Cannock railway station and warned that the winter will mark 'more misery' for passengers.

The Conservative MP, who has a house in Rugeley, did not mince her words or hide her emotion as she delivered her damning verdict on the service which links Cannock Chase with Walsall and Birmingham.

She said: "What is at the best of times a railway line where passengers have to endure cancelled and delayed trains is at this time of year a line where they also face severe overcrowding. "All too often, it is reported to me that there are only two carriages on these services.

"Bearing in mind the level of use, that is simply unacceptable." She said the issue of overcrowding was 'exacerbated' by the fact that not all passengers are paying for their tickets.

Ms Milling added: "The misery does not stop there. Another issue facing those long-suffering passengers is delayed and cancelled trains.

Problems

"It is not uncommon for passengers using the service to and from Rugeley to complain that the service has been stopped and re-directed from stations further up the line.

"This is an hourly service, so these problems result in people not being able to get to work on time and having to explain why they are late, day in and day out."

She also raised the issue of Amazon taking on seasonal workers at its Rugeley centre, adding to the problem of overcrowding.

"Last autumn, Amazon recruited around half of its additional seasonal staff, and my inbox was full of complaints from passengers who were using the Chase line," the MP said.

The state of some of the stations was also in Ms Milling's firing line. She said: "The facilities at Cannock are still incredibly basic in terms of offering a welcoming environment.

Ms Milling, who has represented the constituency since May last year, did accept that the electrification of the line would alleviate some of the problems but was on the offensive again when she highlighted the fact that trains will not be ready to run on the tracks until the end of 2018 – despite work due to finish at the start of the year.

London Midland, which runs the services on the Chase Line, has said it is working closely with Amazon to minimise the impact of the extra staff. "The answer to this will be the electrification of the line when it is finally finished but unfortunately, there are just no more diesel trains around we can use," a spokesman said.

CRASH VICTIM AND FAMILY THANK PARAMEDICS

Adrian Leake, centre, and his family – Alan Williamson holding three-year-old Ethan, wife Louise and Xavier, two – with, left, pilot Keith Armatage, paramedic Andy Mawson, and doctor Dion Arbid at Durham Tees Valley Airport

MONTHS after being told he may be paralysed following a cycling accident, a Rugeley man has thanked those who flew to his aid.

Adrian Leake was airlifted to hospital by the Great North Air Ambulance Service after a collision with a 4x4 on the A177 near Ferryhill, County Durham, while taking part in a charity cycle ride. He suffered a dislocated vertebrae and a compression fracture which resulted in him having eight screws and two metal rods fitted down his spine.

He spent three weeks in James Cook University Hospital in Middlesbrough following the crash on August 20 – but despite his ordeal he is now recovering.

Adrian, 33, a father-of-two, said: "I was cycling from Newcastle to London in under 24 hours for Macmillan and was on my 30th mile when the collision happened. Initially, my family was told that I could be paralysed, so it is a big relief to be here and walking today. "It is still a struggle. My wife has to drive me around and I can't run after the boys like I used to, but without the charity's help I'd more than likely be in a wheelchair.

"We all wanted to say a massive thank you to GNAAS for taking me to James Cook. Without them it could have been a different outcome, and because of the help I received it gives me the opportunity to watch my children grow up. My family are my passion."

Adrian visited the charity's airbase at Durham Tees Valley Airport with his wife Louise, sons Ethan, three, and Xavier, two, and his father-in-law Alan Williamson. Adrian said: "It's been amazing to thank them in person."

Doctor Dion Arbid, who treated him, said: "It has been a pleasure to see Adrian and his family. It makes the job worthwhile."

Bosses urged to take part in survey

Chris Plant – ‘influences’

A STAFFORDSHIRE business boss has asked for companies to take part in a survey to analyse the state of trading in the area post-Brexit.

The latest Greater Birmingham Chambers of Commerce quarterly business survey is now up and running, until November 28. The results will help to form the basis of the Chamber’s Quarterly Business Report which offers an up-to-date snapshot of the performance of the region’s businesses.

The survey takes on average around three minutes to complete.

Chris Plant, director at the Chamber, said: “It has rarely been more important for us to understand how businesses are being affected by the current, uncertain economic environment. From Brexit to interest rates, the value of the pound to the outcome of the US elections, there is a lot going on at present.

“This survey helps us understand how all of these influences and factors are really affecting local businesses. The results of this survey form the basis of our Quarterly Business Report publication which we use to inform decision makers and stakeholders across the region.

“Respondents don’t need to be a CEO or director to take part – they just to have an understanding of how their business is performing.”

Visit <https://www.surveymonkey.co.uk/r/ChrisQ416> to take part.

● More than half of the businesses in Tamworth and Lichfield saw an increase in turnover last year, a business summit will be held next week.

The results of a survey will be highlighted at the event being held on Thursday at Drayton Manor Hotel as part of the Staffordshire Business Festival 2016 organised by the Staffordshire Chambers of Commerce.

School ‘over the moon’ with its good rating

HEATH Hayes Academy has been rated ‘good’ by Ofsted after being inspected at the end of September.

The school joined the REAch2 Academy Trust in January 2014, starting a new chapter in its history.

Since then the school has improved from a rating of ‘inadequate’ to ‘good’. The primary school, which teaches pupils aged four to 11, was rated ‘good’ overall, and ‘outstanding’ for personal development, behaviour and welfare.

The report notes ‘the curriculum is extremely well planned and offers pupils a wide range of exciting and relevant learning activities that stimulate their imagination and interest’.

Pupils’ behaviour is described as ‘outstanding’, and the school’s work to support pupils’ spiritual, moral, social and cultural development as ‘highly effective’.

It also goes on to say that as a result of the good teaching and the ‘corresponding improvements in outcomes’, pupils are in a strong position when they leave to move to secondary school. The school ‘ensures that pupils are enthusiastic learners with secure knowledge and skills across all subjects’.

Dedication

Parents have ‘extremely high confidence’ in the work of the school and are appreciative and supportive of the work that all staff do to help their children thrive, the report adds. It also praises headteacher Rebecca Graham for providing ‘effective and decisive leadership’.

Mrs Graham said: “We are over the moon with the rating, which is testament to the dedication and hard work of all the staff here and how far we’ve come.

“We believe all children can be successful and we will continue to strive for the very best standards of education here at Heath Hayes Academy.”

Sir Steve Lancashire, CEO of REAch2 Academy Trust, said: “This is a wonderful achievement for the whole team at Heath Hayes and we are all feeling very proud. The school, which has been through a challenging time, has been embraced by the REAch2 family, supportive parents, dedicated governors and great pupils.

“What has been achieved since joining the trust is really fantastic.”

Bike thieves leave pupils heartbroken

Harry Mees, left, Ava Dennis, William Thornley and Phoebe Roelake with teacher Henry Wood

A BURNTWOOD primary school has issued a plea for help after thieves stole nine bikes.

Boney Hay Primary School was targeted by thieves who broke into the school’s bike shed and took the red BMXs.

Members of staff at the school, off Chorley Road, used the bikes to teach children how to ride.

They cannot afford to replace the bikes and are appealing for information on where they may be – or help to replace them. Jen Matthew-man, headteacher, said: “On Saturday October 22 we had somebody who managed to get in as far as our kitchen but our alarm went off.

“Then at some point on October 27 or 28 our bike shed was broken into and nine bikes were stolen.

“These bikes are bought so every child can access our cycling programme whether they can afford their own bike or not, which most of our students can’t. We cannot afford to replace them. One bike was recovered in Lichfield but it was not in a fit state to use. We do not know where the other bikes are.”

“Our plan now is to try and save up for a new container for the bikes and then slowly over time start replacing them. If anybody has any information about the bikes or can help in anyway to replace them and to get a new container, please contact me on 01543 510455.”

Staffordshire Police are investigating. Anyone with information is asked to call 101, quoting incident number 488 of October 28.

Get your flu jab plea to women who are pregnant

HEALTH experts are urging pregnant women to get their free vaccination before the flu virus starts circulating this winter.

South East Staffordshire and Seisdon Peninsula Clinical Commissioning Group is warning that flu can cause many complications during pregnancy, particularly in the later stages, such as premature births or low birth weights. In some cases, it can lead to stillbirth or even death in the first week of life.

However, getting a free flu vaccination can help prevent difficulties and keep mother and baby safe.

Keeping fit and healthy in pregnancy is important for a baby’s growth and development, but a woman’s immune system while they are pregnant is naturally lower and if they catch the flu virus it can become serious very quickly.

A review into maternal deaths in 2014 showed that nearly one in 10 deaths of new mothers was caused by flu. More than half of these could have been prevented by the flu vaccination. Although maternal deaths are rare in the UK, women are at higher risk of complications by infections such as pneumonia – particularly in the later stages of pregnancy.

Dr John James, clinical chair of South East Staffordshire and Seisdon Peninsula CCG, said: “I would urge anyone who is pregnant to get the flu vaccination as soon as possible.

“During pregnancy a woman’s immune system is naturally lower to ensure that the pregnancy is successful.”

Advice offered on energy bills

CITIZENS Advice has urged people to book an appointment which could see their energy bills slashed.

It is part of the national Big Energy Saving Week campaign encouraging people to compare their current tariff with other suppliers.

Citizen’s Advice has offices in Cannock, Rugeley and Stafford. Patricia Evans Nixon from Staffordshire South West Citizens Advice said: “We shall be offering clients appointment through out the winter months. An adviser can look at maximising their income and exploring tariffs, discounts and trust funds to help people cope.”

OFTEC, the UK trade body for oil heating, is also offering advice on reducing energy consumption and saving money to households in Staffordshire.

Timely call to check electrical equipment

HOMEOWNERS are being asked by Staffordshire Fire Service to check that their electrical equipment is in working order.

There have been 1,688 accidental house fires across Staffordshire and Stoke-on-Trent in the past three years with 341 – 20 per cent – of these caused by faulty electrical equipment. During the same period, two people have lost their lives in this type of incident while six others have been injured. A total of 145 blazes involving faulty electrical equipment, which equates to 43 per cent of all such fires, were classed as high severity, meaning they caused up to five square metres of damage.

Head of risk reduction Jim Bywater said: "We feel that now is a prudent time to issue a county-wide warning to people to check their electrical equipment and make sure that it is in good working order."

"As the nights are drawing in and the weather is getting colder, people are bringing out their heaters, electric blankets and switching on lamps for the first time this year."

"Statistics show that wiring, cabling and plugs are the top ignition source with 71 out of the 341 blazes being due to one of these factors."

"Although just over half of this type of incident don't require any actual firefighting, the incidents that do require crews to tackle the blaze can be extremely distressing for the residents, causing a great deal of damage to properties which take time and money to rectify."

Chief executive at council retires

STAFFORD Borough Council's chief executive has stepped down from his role.

Ian Thompson, aged 64, retired on Friday after more than eight years in the authority's top job and more than 40 years in local government.

Mr Thompson, who is married with two grown-up children, joined the council in 2005 from Lichfield District Council where he was director of development.

He said: "Leaving a job that I love is not easy and it has been a genuine privilege to work with such committed colleagues, elected members and partners."

"I am proud of what we have achieved in my time at the council," Tim Clegg has taken over the reins.

Wool you believe it! Van is a warm sight

The woolly van on Cannock Chase

IT took 10 months, five knitters, three doing the sewing and 40,000 metres of red, blue and white wool to transform a plain white Sprinter van into a 'giant woolly warmer', complete with fluffy hubcaps.

The covering was designed by Bedwley artist and poet Betti Moretti to bring a little cheer as the days get shorter and colder.

With the help of the eight-strong team, it took her more than 1,000 hours to knit, sew and crochet using 500 balls of wool.

Dressing the van took a further five people, 300 metres of adhesive tape, much creativity and an additional 17 hours over two days.

After touring London dishing out hand-warmers, hot drinks, bacon sandwiches and porridge, the knitted-out van then started on a journey around the country, taking in Cannock Chase, Lichfield, and Blithfield Reservoir along the way.

The striking woolly 'van-over' was commissioned by heating manufacturer Worcester Bosch Group as part of a marketing campaign.

Consumer brand manager Sue

Pennington said: "With the clocks going back, and the mornings getting darker, we all need a bit of comfort."

"Being on the road also allowed us to encourage people to get warm – inside and out – by finding out who they rely on to warm their hearts."

"The reactions we got from people were really heart-warming and put a smile on their faces."

"Creating the oversized knit for the van was a huge amount of fun, and it was great to surprise and delight people with such an eye-catching attraction," she added.

New energy site plans approved despite fears

REVISED plans for a plant in Huntington which would generate enough energy to power 2,500 homes have been passed.

Bloomfield Recycling gained permission for an anaerobic digestion facility in Cocksparrow Lane in 2010 despite concerns from residents and Huntington Parish Council including fears over traffic near Littleton Green Community School.

An extension to deliver the plant was granted in 2014 and now Staffordshire County Council has given the green light to revised designs.

Anaerobic digestion involves the breakdown of biodegradable material without the use of oxygen to produce energy and fuel.

The new designs were mainly concerned with the layout of the scheme as well as the size of some of the components. The development includes a covered feeding system, a 13ft-high storage tank, two 46ft-tall fermenter tanks, another covered storage tank measuring 46ft in height, as well as three drying area containers. It will lie to the east of the 20-acre plot.

Littleton Green Community School is less than a third of a mile to the north of the site, and homes at Littleton Green less than 1,100ft away.

Traffic

Huntington Parish Council had been the biggest objectors. On September 1 they arranged a public meeting with representatives from Bloomfield as well as Phaidon which will operate the plant. A report which summarised the meeting said: "Councillors and members of the public who attended raised concerns about road safety, including speeding vehicles and traffic management issues, the proximity to the local primary school and the problem with heavy traffic during school times."

In the wake of the latest approval, none of the parish councillors was available for comment. The county council's planning committee, which is the waste authority for the area, unanimously approved the latest scheme.

Committee chairman Tim Corbett said: "Most of the objections were to the principle of the anaerobic digestion facility."

"This was just about revisions to the design, as it had already been passed previously."

David Humphries, managing director at Bloomfield, said: "There hasn't been any issues raised after the development has been explained to residents."

Memorable – Lisa Smith, aged 36, from Rugeley taking part in the Palma de Mallorca marathon

Runaway success in Palma marathon

A KEEN runner from Rugeley swapped the British autumn for the sunshine of Majorca to test her mettle in its famous road race.

Lisa Smith, aged 36, travelled to its capital to compete in the Palma de Mallorca marathon.

She was delighted to finish in fifth place out of the female runners and second in her age group – despite the beating sun and temperatures of around 80F (27C).

Running alongside 1,050 other competitors, she completed the route in three hours and 21 minutes, which was a personal best. She knocked 15 minutes off her previous marathon time in Paris earlier this year.

"It went very well. It was only my third marathon and my first in that sort of heat," said Lisa.

She said she had picked the Palma de Mallorca because she wanted a marathon that would be 'memorable'.

Lisa joined Rugeley Running Club in January 2015 and is also a member of the North Staffordshire Road Runners Association.

This year she has competed in 18 events.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

OUR changing language. I've lost count this week of the number of times radio and TV commentators have told us that the gap between Clinton and Trump is "tightening." A spanner tightens; gaps narrow.

THE Marmite controversy rumbles on. A reader asks why a fall in the pound should affect the price of a spread made from by-products of the British brewing industry. He says: "I reckon somebody is extracting the yeast."

ONLY a few years ago, we were assured that eating eggs caused high cholesterol and clogged your arteries. Then we were told the theory was nonsense. And this week we are told that a review of 300,000 patients suggests an egg a day keeps strokes at bay. A moment's silence, please, for those who put their faith in the experts, stopped eating eggs and died of strokes.

DO you detect the sickly whiff of hypocrisy? Home Secretary Amber Rudd rules out a full inquiry into the 1984 Battle of Orgreave and some Labour politicians cry shame. Yet Labour was in power for 13 years. They had plenty of time to hold an inquiry. So why didn't they?

WE may not need a full-blown, lawyer-fest inquiry but Orgreave should be remembered and re-examined, if only to separate fact from propaganda. For a start, Orgreave was not a popular, class-war uprising against the despised Margaret Thatcher that dozens of Leftie websites suggest.

Thatcher was actually very popular in the 1980s. The year before Orgreave she led the Tories to a landslide election victory with a huge majority of 144 seats. Three years after Orgreave she won her third general election with another massive majority. Although many Brits had sympathy for the miners, there were bitter memories of the Three Day Week caused by the miners' strike of 1974. On the day itself, before the police perjury and evidence-tampering began, most folk supported the force's action. Victory for the police in the Battle of Orgreave may have been ugly but defeat was unthinkable.

CONTINUING the recent theme of inflation, a reader on a pension calculates that, in order to buy the house he has occupied for 49 years today, he would have to be a first-time buyer earning £60,000 a year.

MORE to the point, he says, when he first paid to watch Wolves over 60 years ago, his hobby consumed about one-fifth of his salary. To get similar value in the Premier League today he would need to earn £90,000. He asks: "Has the football improved that much?" Discuss.

Service inspired by regimental mascot

A SERVICE to celebrate working dogs is taking place on Cannock Chase tomorrow (Friday) at 2pm.

Cannock Chase Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) is inviting working dogs and their owners to the event.

The annual service, now in its seventh year, was inspired by Freda, a Dalmatian-type dog that was the New Zealand Rifles' mascot, when the regiment was stationed on the Chase during the First World War.

She died in 1918, while the regiment was training on Cannock Chase, and is buried there.

In memory of Freda, and dogs like her, the AONB team is holding a service at her grave, off Chase Road.

Last year 60 people, many accompanied by their dogs, gathered at Freda's grave to take part in the ceremony, which included listening to readings and poems, and laying wreaths.

Ruth Hytch, Cannock Chase AONB Officer, said: "The ceremony is a chance to think about the debt of gratitude we owe to working dogs."

"It is a moving service, so whether you're remembering the bravery of a military or police dog, or a missed support or pet dog, everyone is welcome." Dogs can also attend the special service.

Freda's grave is 0.6 miles south east of Brocton.

It is marked 'Meml' on the Ordnance Survey Explorer Map 244 - Cannock Chase and its grid reference is SJ978188.

To find out more, call the AONB office on 01785 619185 or email cannockchase@staffordshire.gov.uk

Pitmen honour ex-players killed in war

Hednesford Town goalkeeper Lloyd Ransome pays his respects

HEDNESFORD Town have kick-started remembrance services early to honour three former players who died at the Battle of the Somme.

The Pitmen are marking the memory of Isaiah Jones, Samuel Alfred Smith and Albert Millington. The three were among more than 90,000 British troops killed in the five-month battle in the First World War.

Fighting started on July 1, 1916 when an estimated 19,240 British troops died attacking the Germans.

By the end of the conflict on November 18, more than 90,000 had been killed with hundreds of thousands more wounded.

Private Isaiah Jones was a well-known footballer in the region having played for Cannock as well. He joined the Royal Welsh Fusiliers after enlisting during the war and was killed in action on July 25, aged 30. He has no known grave and is listed on the Commonwealth War Graves Commission (CWGC) Memorial to the Missing.

Lance-Corporal Millington was 23 when he died on September 16. He was with the 8th Battalion, the King's Royal Rifle Corps. He is buried in the CWGC Heilly Station Cemetery, at Mericourt-l'Abbe, in France.

Samuel Alfred Smith, 22, died after suffering fatal wounds on the Somme. He was injured within days of joining the frontline in September 1916.

Last week Hednesford Town goalkeeper Lloyd Ransome paid his respects at the grave of Samuel Smith at Cannock Cemetery. His visit was part of a call by the FA and the CWGC who urged footballers to visit war graves as part of the Living Memory project.

Commons celebration for 25 years of Newlife

A CELEBRATION to mark the 25th anniversary of the Newlife Foundation for Disabled Children was held at the House of Commons.

Penny Mordaunt, who is Secretary of State for Disabled People, Health and Work, joined Staffordshire MPs Amanda Milling and Jeremy Lefroy at the event, hosted by Newlife, alongside 100 supporters of the Cannock-based charity.

The event doubled up as a chance to launch the charity's Impact Report for the upcoming year.

Newlife CEO Sheila Brown, OBE, said: "The Newlife vision is to give children with disabilities the very best chance in life, through equipment and medical research and by campaigning so their needs are known and understood."

"We look forward to meeting with Penny Mordaunt in the near future to develop our equipment services and ensure that the one million disabled children living in the UK get the right equipment at the right time," she added.

Amanda Milling, MP for Cannock Chase, said: "They do amazing work for disabled children, their carers and families."

Staffordshire County Council's libraries and archives chief Gill Heath said: "It's still early days but we're now starting to create plans around the interior of the building and sorting out what goes where."

"These are very exciting times which will see the creation of a first-class modern library in the city while safeguarding the future of two landmark buildings." Visit www.staffordshire.gov.uk/lichfieldlibrary

Service on shortlist for three fire awards

STAFFORDSHIRE Fire and Rescue Service has been nominated for three national awards.

The organisation will contest the gongs at the Excellence in Fire and Emergency Awards 2016 to be held in London on December 2.

Chief Fire Officer Becci Bryant and equality and diversity manager Diane Dunleavy are up for the Most Influential Women in Fire category.

Competing for Innovation of the Year will be the Business Intelligence Team who have developed a risk programme to benefit the service's work around prevention.

Finally the Learning Development Team has been nominated for the Training Provider of the Year.

The team have trained private firms including Jaguar Land Rover and JCB as well as the voluntary Staffordshire Search and Rescue Team.

Miss Bryant said: "We are always striving to find more efficient and effective ways to make our communities safer while at the same time balancing the books.

"The teams and individuals who have been shortlisted for the awards have already achieved a great deal as the calibre of entries from our colleagues across the country is always exceptional.

"It would be a privilege for members of the service to be recognised as leaders on a national stage and I would like to congratulate all of Staffordshire's nominees for their success on being shortlisted and to wish them luck on December 2."

Survey is seeking views on libraries

LIBRARY users from across the county are being encouraged to take part in a national survey.

The Adult Public Library Users Survey (PLUS) takes place every three years and now Staffordshire County Council wants to hear what people think.

Libraries taking part this week include Rugeley, Blythe Bridge and Rising Brook. Stafford Library also opens Sundays so the survey will continue there until November 13. Next week, starting on Monday, includes Burntwood, Penkridge and Leek. The Travelling Library will be carrying out the survey until November 19.

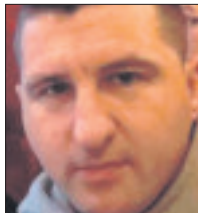

People will be asked to answer 23 questions about their experience and how the service might be improved.

Grand draw at festive market

FATHER Christmas will be in attendance at a festive market in Rugeley.

A grand draw, tombola and stalls are among the attractions on November 26, midday to 3pm, in the church and hall at St Michael's Brereton.

Tragic pastor's online stalker jailed

Jamie Jones

A DISGRUNTLED traveller who drove a gypsy pastor to kill himself after a two-month online smear campaign has been jailed for 26 months.

Jamie Jones uploaded 23 menacing videos to YouTube targeting head minister Davey Jones of the Life and Light Christian gypsy church in Union Street, Willenhall.

The clips, posted by the 42-year-old between May and July last year, accused Davey Jones of covering up a child sexual abuse scandal at a Romanian orphanage, of corruption over charitable funds, and of being homosexual, Mr Howard Searle, prosecuting, told Wolverhampton Crown Court.

The pastor, 60, was found dead in a hotel car park in Walsall on July 11 last year.

"Jamie Jones was a member of the church up to 2008," said Mr Searle. "He left after a dispute. His perception was that he didn't get positive answers from church leaders." Last year — seven years later — a third-party video emerged purporting to show Davey Jones in the car park of a gay club. The defendant, formerly of Wolverhampton Road, Penkridge, used the existence of this video to hound his victim. The court was told the claims were all unfounded.

Defending, Miss Catherine O'Reilly said of her client, who pleaded guilty to a single count of stalking: "No-one regrets more what happened to Davey Jones than this defendant."

New battle under way over DX Freight plans

DX FREIGHT has launched a last-ditch bid to resurrect plans for a 44-acre super-hub in a Staffordshire village by appealing to the Government against a refusal to grant planning permission.

South Staffordshire Council threw out the firm's original application for a £36 million development in Essington in May. The centre, which sparked hundreds of objections, would have seen 600 staff transferred from the company's two sites in Willenhall.

Now, despite the fact parent firm DX Group has unveiled new plans for a smaller hub, bosses have lodged an appeal against the original refusal decision — re-igniting its battle with villagers.

It means the final decision on planning permission is likely to be made by a planning inspectorate from the Department for Communities and Local Government.

South Staffordshire Councillor David Clift, who represents Essington, said: "We expected [the appeal] was going to come but I am not concerned. I welcome it. Our arguments against it at the time were ironclad.

"I look forward to putting the arguments forward again to the planning inspector and am confident the appeal will be dismissed."

Jobs

He said the council had agreed for 11 acres of the site at Hobnack Road to be developed but argued 44 acres was too excessive for the village, while DX Freight's latest scheme would still see around 30 acres built on. As well as the impact on the green belt land, residents' major fears centre around traffic from heavy goods vehicles descending on Essington.

DX said it would safeguard the current jobs in Willenhall while creating another 400.

On September 8 the company, alongside partner Stoford, held a public exhibition unveiling the revised scheme. The firm argued the 'built form' would be 32 per cent smaller while lorries would travel directly to junction 11 of the M6. Placard-waving protesters still turned out to demonstrate their opposition to it.

In light of the appeal DX Freight confirmed its intention to press ahead with the scaled-down plans. Company spokesman James Anderson said: "DX and Stoford are currently reviewing the feedback from the exhibition and are seeking to submit a new planning application for the site before Christmas."

Council joins in card record bid

Philip Atkins, leader of Staffordshire County Council, signs the card from the National Memorial Arboretum

STAFFORDSHIRE County Council's leader and chief executive have joined in to say a potentially record-breaking 'thank you' to the armed forces.

Leader Philip Atkins and chief executive John Henderson have signed a giant card from the National Memorial Arboretum, which is trying to break the world record for most signatures on a Christmas card.

After stopping at Staffordshire

Place, the card will then go on a tour of the Midlands and London, where it will go on display at the Ministry of Defence in Whitehall. A total of 21,000 signatures are needed to break the current world record, set by Dubai police in 2015.

Councillor Atkins said: "Staffordshire has a strong historic connection with our armed forces, continuing with large bases in Stafford and Lichfield, and we are committed to supporting armed forces personnel wherever we can.

"The signing of this card is just one way for us to show our commitment and appreciation for those risking their lives to serve their country.

"It would be wonderful if we could break the world record in the process, and show our armed forces that people in Staffordshire appreciate their sacrifices and thank them for keeping us safe."

Burglar takes car as owner sleeps

A BRAZEN burglar broke into a home in Rugeley — while the resident was in bed — and drove off in a car after grabbing its keys from the kitchen.

The intruder broke into the house in Chester Road at 2.50am on Friday.

CCTV captured the burglar fleeing the property in the black Audi which was parked on the drive, although the footage was not clear enough to obtain a description of the offender. Staffordshire Police say the car was recovered within the West Midlands region.

IN MY VIEW
with Mark Andrews

Inmates are leading us all a right merry dance

ALL does not seem to be well in HM Prison Service at the moment. First of all, we have had the riot at Bedfordshire jail, where two inmates were taken to hospital and the warders retreated to a "safe space" while the lags turned the place upside down, filming the jollity on mobile phones while they were at it.

Then, over at Pentonville nick, two inmates, including a would-be murderer, successfully made a dash for freedom after stuffing their pillows under the bedclothes to make the officers think they were asleep.

Still, nice to see those good old progressive bods at the Ministry of Justice have got a plan to bring order to the chaos. They are going to spend £8.4 million giving every jailbird a flat-screen telly, presumably in the belief that the miscreants would all become model citizens if only they were allowed to watch Ed Balls prance about on Strictly Come Dancing in high definition.

Not only that, thousands is being spent on new gym equipment, which will presumably get the lags in shape for the next time they fancy a dust-up on B-wing, or a to do a moonlight flit when they get a file in their birthday cake.

One jail has even spent £30,000 employing a hairdresser.

How can it cost 30 grand to give a few old lags a grade two back and sides?

This next question is probably naive in the extreme, and explains why people like me never get anywhere near the justice system, but I'm going to ask it anyway.

Wouldn't it be better value to spend £8.4 million on a few extra prison officers to give the inmates under control?

STAYING with the justice system, former attorney general Dominic Grieve has launched a blistering attack on the tabloid press over its coverage of last week's High Court ruling that could derail Britain's withdrawal from the EU.

Mr Grieve accused some newspapers of demonstrating 'fascist' behaviour, and compared their conduct with Robert Mugabe's Zimbabwe. He does protest too much, me thinks. After all, I would have thought a panel of judges overruling the result of a democratic vote to frustrate the will of voters would be right up Comrade Mugabe's street.

I WON'T pretend I understand the first thing about the latest cyber attack on Tesco bank, which has cleared out several customers' accounts.

But it does highlight once more just how vulnerable the internet is to fraudsters. And no matter what incentives the banks come up with, nothing convince me to take up internet banking.

Jacket designer Elizabeth Isley, aged 21

Slaves jackets are very personalised

Kim Kardashian and Kanye West are customers

Jackets that fit well with the celebrities

Stars are clamouring for her designs, and it all started with a £10 buy from a charity shop, reports LUCY THOMPSON

DESIGNING jackets for A-list celebrities, 24,000 social media followers and a Liberty London exclusive collection – not bad for an art graduate who started out painting leather jackets in her bedroom.

Elizabeth Isley, from Sedgley, now counts Kanye West and Kim Kardashian among her customers but the journey all began after she bought a £10 leather jacket from The Salvation Army in Dudley three years ago.

The 21-year-old, who studied at Halesowen College, said: "I bought a leather jacket from The Salvation Army in Dudley and took it home but it was too big for me so I painted on it and used it as a wall decoration. I painted the words 'I shave my legs for you' and woke up the next day to thousands of Instagram followers including Rihanna."

Messages

Elizabeth's Instagram profile is where she regularly receives messages from her followers requesting their own specially-painted jackets.

She graduated from Birmingham City University with a degree in fine art.

"Towards the end of my university course Liberty London got in touch and wanted to stock my leather jackets in the shop," said Elizabeth. "I made 24 jackets, which sold out within six days, and now I'm scheduled to make 25 each month for them until February."

"My nan hates it, she can't believe Liberty would ever stock my art."

The creative juices flow and the magic happens at her studio in Digbeth in Birmingham.

She said: "I'm currently painting a jacket for Florence Welch of Florence + the Machine, her manager got in touch with my manager and stated that Florence loved the jackets and

Some of the many jackets Elizabeth has painted and which are proving a great hit wanted one of her own. I've also done four jackets for Kanye West, he got in touch asking for three for his daughter North West and one for his wife Kim Kardashian. He shipped over his own jackets and I painted Kanye West lyrics on them at his request."

She has also done some jackets for the band Slaves. She prides herself in being a feminist and litters her art and bespoke £500 leather jackets with feminist slogans. The creative journey began though after a relationship break-up and general everyday girl problems, using 42 square inch boards and leather jackets to scribble down her regrets and stories. Her website states that her art work features "witty one-liners and honest nods to her own experiences in life with romance and everyday girl problems like eating a whole box of mini rolls and basking in loneliness".

But when her hands aren't full of paint-brushes, Elizabeth models, take photos and is part of 'GrlPwr Gang', a group of women that work together to support women in the creative industries and female empowerment, recently featuring on River Island's social media accounts for a live Q&A. Music is also one of Elizabeth's biggest inspirations, inspired by the punk era and her favourites Patti Smith and Courtney Love. She said: "I love the punk era from back in the day but all in all I just make what I want to wear. I walk around with painted and customised clothes as it's just what I want to wear and other people must want to too." New York is on the cards in February as Elizabeth has her own exhibition planned there.

Her first solo exhibition, All My Mistakes in One Room, is at Moosey Art in Norwich until November 5.

Alfred 'Alfie' Booker from Lichfield was a trainee gunner on HMS Ramillies

The two veterans with their families at the reunion on board HMS Westminster – the most advanced frigate in the Royal Navy's fleet

TWO D-Day veterans, who have just celebrated their 90th birthdays, have been reunited on board a modern day warship.

Seventy three years after meeting as trainee gunners on HMS Ramillies, Alfred 'Alfie' Booker from Lichfield and Norman Burns from Bournemouth returned to Portsmouth for a reunion.

The heroic pair were welcomed on board HMS Westminster – the most advanced frigate in the Royal Navy's fleet – following a request by Alfie's son Murray to The Royal Navy and Royal Marines Charity. The Royal Navy not only offered its honoured guests a chance to enjoy first-class hospitality and a lavish lunch, but representatives also presented the D-Day veterans with the highest military honour the French Government bestows – the Légion d'Honneur.

Murray said: "Everybody on HMS Westminster really played their part in making their birthday celebrations more than special. This is something that we will remember for the rest of our lives. Lunch in the Wardroom was something special, especially when the Captain served us drinks."

Norman and Alfie met in the Royal Navy when they were 17.

Their roles as trainee gunners on HMS Ramillies became even more important when they were sent to support the Allied invasion of France on D-Day, June 6, 1944.

Seven decades on, the veterans were accompanied by their wives, Betty and Bronwyn.

Cdr Simon Kelly added: "It's an absolute honour to present this award."

To borrow more would be insane

IN this country, celebrities are treated like gods. They are paid vast sums of money to do very little work and some of them repay us by calling us racist. I personally find people from abroad friendly and hard working.

However, each year, net migration into the UK increases by about 10 times the population of Cannock.

Even if we could wave a magic wand and get these facilities in days rather than years and provide trained teachers, doctors and nurses etc we would still need billions of pounds to fund this.

As this country is already hugely in debt, to borrow more money would be insane.

So how about these celebrities selling their multi-million pound houses, moving to a modest house in a multi-cultural working class area and giving their surplus millions to help those from abroad.

Rethink call over Shire Hall closure plan

THE delay in closing Stafford's Shire Hall should allow for a major rethink.

The issue is no longer about making staff redundant. Even with one person in post Stafford would be left with another empty building – it already has too many.

The county council plan makes no sense even in cost cutting terms. What is now called the Shire Hall Gallery is only part of the complex and the majority of space is what used to be the Central Library. The building as a whole, even if empty, would cost to keep going.

How much would an empty building cost the council to run? The council wants to turn it into offices, this would cost also and as the building is listed there is no guarantee this would be allowed. However the big problem is that Stafford town centre urgently needs to attract visitors and generate activity especially in the evening. A 9-5 office block would not do this.

There is a strong case for turning the building into a cultural centre, with many rooms turned into workshops or rehearsal spaces. While the old courts would need to be kept, that can be used to make it a tourist attraction, an imaginative use of technology calling up the past of live hangings and blood murders could have an appeal. Am I alone in thinking the Shire Hall can play a part in rebranding Stafford as a place worth visiting?

Action is required over care

EVERY day the media is littered with articles relating to the current 'unprecedented crisis' that currently exists within all aspects of social and health care in this country.

If appropriate action isn't taken soon – and this from a government whose mantra has always been projected as encouraging and supporting 'care in the home' – why then are they allowing so many care/nursing homes together with companies who provide care in the home to go out of business, as the result of a serious lack of funding?

In order to avoid a disaster within care, in the not too distant future therefore, the Government must accept that the number of elderly and vulnerable people will continue to increase and that care facilities must be sufficient, in order to accommodate those needs, over and above the current levels.

Why not offer a level playing field to trade

I VOTED against joining the Common Market; we joined, and I lost my job because of joining.

I accepted the decision because we live in a democracy. I didn't vote Tory at the last general election either, and they won with a small majority; again, democracy.

I voted to leave the EU and along with the majority of a very large turnout the vote went in our favour.

Now all types of people are trying to put obstacles in the way of us leaving because democracy only works for them when it suits their views.

The UK is a massive market where many countries would like to trade given a chance. Let's give them a level playing field.

ROGER ALLEN

My choice for worst PM would be Gordon Brown

A RECENT poll to find the worst Prime Minister in the last century was won by Mrs Thatcher, with David Cameron a close second. A good case could be made for most of them, but my choice would be Gordon Brown.

For sheer breathtaking arrogance and incompetence, I believe he has no equal. An architect of New Labour, he abandoned any pretence to socialism. Preferring to listen to his Tory friends, he de-regulated the city, with disastrous consequences for us all, presiding over the great banking crash, from which we have never recovered. After losing his first election he campaigned against his own country gaining independence, which lost his party another election.

PRIMARY school applications for next September have opened for parents in Staffordshire.

They can apply online at www.staffordshire.gov.uk/admissions and have until January 15 to submit their preferences.

To make the process as easy as possible, Staffordshire County Council has released some tips:

- Parents must make an actual formal application between now and January 15, even if they have an elder child in attendance at their preferred school.

- Attendance at a nursery class does not give any priority in the reception class admissions process. The most important thing is for parents to make sure they apply for at least three schools.

- Be clear on the admission criteria for the school that is being applied for.

- Parents should visit their preferred school – talk to the headteacher and other teachers so they can be sure it is right for their child.

- For the latest performance data on schools in the local area, log www.staffordshire.gov.uk/admissions

County Councillor Ben Adams, cabinet member for learning and skills, said: "Year on year, the majority of parents are allocated their first choice school, and we are constantly above the national average for allocating parents one of their top three preferred schools."

"This is despite rising birth rates putting pressure on school places across the county."

"Because of this, we need all applications in by January 15, 2017 as a lot of work goes into organising the process," Councillor Adams added.

"We understand the pressures we are facing on primary school places, and are putting in a lot of work to ensure we have enough to accommodate the increase in population in some areas of the county."

Fresh calls over A&E as pressure growing

ONE in three emergency patients are waiting more than four hours to be dealt with at Royal Stoke University Hospital, while six people spent half a day on a trolley, new figures have revealed.

It has led to fresh calls to see A&E at County Hospital in Stafford fully reopen 24 hours a day to help relieve the pressure – a pre-election pledge made by Health Secretary Jeremy Hunt, who is set to visit the Royal to see first hand its problems.

Just 66 per cent of patients attending the emergency department in September – excluding walk-in centres – were seen, treated, admitted or discharged within four hours. The national target is 95 per cent.

Six people waited 12 hours or more to be admitted to the hospital from A&E – 43 in total for the year – when the target is for that to never happen.

County Hospital, which is also run by the University Hospitals of North Midlands NHS Trust, is faring better with a 91 per cent performance against the four-hour standard and no 12-hour trolley waits.

Return

Julian Porter from the Support Stafford Hospital group said: "The answer is simple. "There needs to be a fully functional and 24-hour A&E at Stafford to relieve the pressure on Stoke. The building is there, the capacity is there."

Mr Hunt visited Stafford in April 2015 declaring 24-hour emergency care would return to County providing it was "clinically safe". It has been operating for 14 hours for several years.

Robert Courteney-Harris, the trust's medical director, said: "In North Staffordshire we have particularly high numbers of patients who no longer need to be treated by us but cannot be discharged in a timely way due to a lack of suitable alternative care within the community or at home."

"Extending the opening hours at the A&E department at County Hospital would not solve this problem." The Department of Health was unable to comment.

Oxfam shops raise £350k

A group of volunteers distributing winter kits containing blankets, sleeping bags, rucksacks and boots to refugees on the Greek island of Lesbos OXFAM shops in Staffordshire have raised more than £350,000 in 12 months for the charity's work around world.

The charity has seven branches spread throughout the county including Hunters Row in Stafford as well as two at Market Place in Lichfield. The others are in Tamworth, Burton On Trent, Leek and Newcastle under Lyme.

The sum was generated by shop sales in the 2015-16 year as well as donations and fundraisers.

Carla Siswick, Staffordshire area manager at Oxfam, said: "We are so grateful to the generous people of Staffordshire who donate to and buy from our shops. This support raises absolutely crucial funds for Oxfam's work helping people in desperate circumstances."

Oxfam carries out outreach work in locations such as Syria, Turkey, Iraq, Greece, Jordan, Lebanon as well as Italy where people are living in poor conditions for reasons from civil wars to natural disasters.

The charity's Moria camp on the Greek island of Lesbos provides shelter and supplies for migrant families where they are registered before they can travel to Greece. In the Bekaa valley of Lebanon, Oxfam's tented settlement provides education for Syrian child refugees.

A night of masquerade mystery

Hollybush Garden Centre & Aquaria staff enjoying the masquerade ball organised by businessman Jack Moody

WITH a masquerade ball theme, a grand auction and top Midland band The Commandments, local businessman Jack Moody delighted guests with a charity night.

Former Wolves and England footballer Steve Bull was a special guest at the event, helping out with presentations, and guests were able to bid for lots in a charity auction.

Mr Moody, who recently celebrated his 70th birthday, has been in business since 1964.

Jack Moody Holdings Plc includes Hollybush Garden

Centre near Cheslyn Hay, an organic recycling facility and Jack Moody Landscaping.

The event raised more than £16,000 for Cancer Research and local charities.

Now in its fourth year, the event is in memory of Tim Porter, who was managing director at Hollybush.

A charitable trust was set up to help the local community and support local cancer charities and West Midlands Air Ambulance, and has raised more than £150,000 so far.

Cancer man's 'cough' alert

Paul Egginton

A BURNTWOOD man is encouraging people to go and see their GP if they have a persistent cough.

Paul Egginton, aged 59, found out he had two cancerous tumours in his right lung despite a practice nurse telling him his cough was just part of a cold that was going around.

Mr Egginton was prompted to recount his experience by Lung Cancer Awareness Month.

He said: "I realise that GP surgeries are busy places and that people don't like to 'bother' their doctor with minor illnesses.

"But if you have had a cough for more than three weeks, you really do need to have it checked out. Demand to see your GP," he added.

"I was probably a little too easy-going but given the situation again, I would demand that I saw a GP, no matter how many times the nurse told me 'it would go away in time'."

Plans for controversial crematorium return

CONTROVERSIAL plans to build a crematorium on green belt land have been resubmitted after previously being refused by council bosses.

The application for Broad Lane, Essington, for a remembrance building, floral tribute area, memorial areas, garden of remembrance and associated parking and infrastructure, was refused in March last year.

The proposal was one of four applications to build crematoriums in the area that were rejected on the same night by bosses at South Staffordshire Council over concerns about the need for such facilities, as well as loss of green belt land.

The decision to reject the Broad Lane proposal was set to be appealed by developers Westerleigh Group, according to Councillor David Clift, who is a member of the South Staffordshire Council's planning committee, but it never came about.

Argued

Residents in Essington reacted with anger to the plans for a crematorium on the edge of the village during a public meeting, raising concerns about increased traffic, smoke and the smell of burning.

Councillor Clift, chairman of Essington Parish Council, said: "I argued that the previous application should be refused, stating it was inappropriate development in the green belt, which was supported by the planning committee. I cannot see what has changed with this application."

The original plans were met with huge opposition from residents, with more than 600 people signing a petition.

A further 250 letters of objection

The parish council and MP Gavin Williamson are opposing the resubmitted plans

An artist's impression of plans for the crematorium off Broad Lane, Essington were also submitted to the local authority opposing the proposal.

Gavin Williamson, MP for South Staffordshire, who opposed the plans first time around, said he was 'extremely disappointed' they had been resubmitted. The land is owned jointly by South Staffordshire Council and Staffordshire County Council.

The Essington scheme was eventually turned down on the basis, among other reasons, that the bulk of its business would come from Walsall. The original plans included a chapel that could seat 112 people, which has also been included in the new application.

Plans for crematoriums in Perton, Wergs and Four Crosses were all thrown out by bosses, despite recommendation being given that the Four Crosses site, at the Truckers Rest cafe, should be approved.

No-one was available for comment at Westerleigh Group.

City date for singer with a quirky blend

Sara Gillespie – a quirky blend of poetic, streetwise lyricism, blues, jazz and leftfield folk

JAZZ, blues and folk fans are in for a treat next weekend when Lichfield Arts present a concert at the city's Guildhall. Sara Gillespie will be appearing at the venue on Sunday, November 20 with her star studded quartet.

Her quirky blend of poetic, streetwise lyricism, blues, jazz and leftfield folk has lead her to have a large fan base. One reviewer described her work as 'a touch of Dylan, with a mix of Joni Mitchell and a rap-like percussiveness'.

Meanwhile, a Led Zeppelin tribute band will play at the venue tomorrow. Fred Zeppelin, who say previous audience members have included Robert Plant, Roy Wood and Jimmy Lea, will take to the stage from 8pm.

And the jump and jive band King Pleasure & the Biscuit Boys make their annual visit on Saturday, December 10.

Rated by most experts, they have been described as the zaniest rhythm 'n' blues band in Europe, guaranteed to give a great night of swinging jump and jive.

Police chief welcomes good rating after visit

STAFFORDSHIRE Police have been rated 'good' by an independent police watchdog in an assessment of how efficient the force is at keeping people safe and reducing crime.

The rating has been given by Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary (HMIC), following their annual inspection of police force efficiency.

By David Banner

Deputy Chief Constable Nick Baker said: "Given the financial pressures that all forces have faced over recent years, it's imperative that the public can trust that Staffordshire Police is spending public money on those issues that really matter. That's why this independent assessment by our watchdog, which found us to be 'good', is welcome."

Responding to the news, Staffordshire's Police and Crime Commissioner praised the work of the county's police force in what he called 'difficult circumstances'.

However, he also said there is more that needs to be done to meet changing crime types, greater complexity and increasing demand. Mr Ellis said: "Even since 2013 the types and complexity of crime has changed immensely."

"Historic underinvestment in technology has also been a serious hindrance that has impacted on the productivity of policing. "Officers and staff in Staffordshire have worked hard to be effective despite historic challenges and must be congratulated."

HMIC undertakes annual inspections into police effectiveness, efficiency and legitimacy (PEEL). The inspection was undertaken in July 2016.

Its judgment is made against how efficient the force is at keeping people safe and reducing crime but is not an assessment of the overall efficiency of policing.

Welcome back to Fashion Factory

Store manager Nick Barnfield makes some final adjustments before the reopening

A CANNOCK clothes shop which closed last November has reopened - giving old employees another chance to work for the company.

Fashion Factory, formerly based in Vine Lane, closed last year, resulting in the loss of 45 jobs, after the company said its lease was coming to an end and it had lost it to another retailer. Bosses had unsuccessfully tried to negotiate an extension until after Christmas. However, they did say they were looking for alternative premises.

The shop has now reopened in Cannock Shopping Centre, giving a boost to those who lost their jobs and shops in the town.

Company director Venetia Sanders said: "I consulted for Fashion Factory for some of the time it was open in Vine Lane - it was clear that the brand had a huge fan base in Cannock, and I was devastated when we had the news that the landlord had opted to move forward with Home Bargains. It's hard for independents to survive when coming up against retail giants.

Help

"After the store closed, it was clear from the overwhelming support through the Facebook page that Fashion Factory was a brand that should be saved. I began to look for alternative units in the town, with lots of setbacks. It wasn't the easiest task.

"With the help of the local people and our small team believing we were doing the right thing we kept looking. "We stumbled across two empty units within the shopping centre, and a few months later, here we are.

"We have contacted employees that worked in the previous store, and they were delighted to be back. The store is smaller but we are in a great central location." The store, which houses several franchises, also closed in July 2012 after 18 years when it went into administration with the loss of 30 jobs.

The business was resurrected by entrepreneur Philip Yates, who opened up again three months later, re-employing many ex-staff.

Ms Sanders said: "We would like to stay in Cannock long-term but like any small business, we need the support of the local people and, of course, that starts with them knowing that Fashion Factory is back."

Deputy PCC Sue Arnold with Cannock Specials at their annual general meeting

Special Constables in Cannock found themselves in the spotlight when Staffordshire's Deputy Police and Crime Commissioner Sue Arnold attended their AGM.

During the evening David Gackowski was presented with the Cannock Police Student Special Constable of the year award, and Acting Special Sergeant Syd Cooper was awarded Cannock Police Special Constable of the year. Special Constables in Cannock devoted more than 15,800 hours of their spare time to keeping local people safe between September 2015 and last month.

There are currently 25 Specials in Cannock. They have carried out, or assisted with, 321 arrests, taken 169 statements and seized 37 cars as part of the Cars Behind Bars scheme.

Mrs Arnold said: "Special Constables make a massive contribution to society."

Superfast grows 'at pace'

WORK to ensure Staffordshire is hooked up to the fastest broadband is continuing to progress.

Engineering work began two and a half years ago on Superfast Staffordshire, which is led by Staffordshire County Council and BT and is part of the Government's Broadband Delivery UK (BDUK) programme.

Since then the programme has enabled more than 90,000 households and businesses to connect to fast broadband speeds.

Mark Winnington, Staffordshire County Council's economic growth leader, said: "The roll-out of the Superfast Staffordshire programme is continuing at pace with communities across the county reaping the benefits.

Combined

"The feedback to the parish council on the importance of being able to connect to faster broadband speeds demonstrates the value of this project to Staffordshire people. Together with commercial coverage, over 93 per cent of Staffordshire properties will now be able to connect to superfast fibre broadband, and 95 per cent by the end of 2017."

BT regional manager Ian Binks said: "Superfast Staffordshire is a multi-million pound engineering programme which is progressing extremely well. When combined with BT's commercial roll-out, around 465,000 premises across Staffordshire are now able to access faster fibre broadband."

Follow in ghost footsteps

VISITORS to Lichfield can hear about the ghosts that are said to haunt the city – and be terrified by gruesome tales of its past. The Gruesome and Ghostly tours are a highlight of Visit Lichfield's autumn and winter calendar. The ghost walks are led by Green Badge guides and take in the Guildhall prison cells, the history of the Market Square burnings, the ghosts sighted at Dam Street, The Close and more locations. The walks are rounded off with a visit to a pub for a glass of mulled wine and a hot sausage roll. Tours need to be booked in advance. Call 01543 256611.

£11m fund set up to boost job training

AN £11 million programme to improve the skills of Staffordshire's workforce has begun. The Skills Support for the Workforce money will be spent on training initiatives.

Over the next two years, it will be spent on improving employees' basic skills so they can progress into more responsible roles, and on advanced and specialised training to help create a more highly skilled workforce.

It will also be used to fund re-skilling schemes for people facing redundancy.

A total of £7m is coming from the EU's European Social Fund with the remainder coming from the Government's Skills Funding Agency to fund projects across the Stoke-on-Trent and Staffordshire Local Enterprise Partnership area.

The aim is to focus on the needs of the local economy and help employers identify skills gaps, develop their staff and become more competitive – resulting in a growing economy with a skilled workforce able to respond to new opportunities.

Skills

The four strands of the new Skills Support for the Workforce programme are:

- Training in basic skills, such as maths and English, for people who are already in work, so that they can develop their skills and gain promotion.

- Intermediate and higher-level skills training for people in work to help employers keep pace with the changing skills needs of an advanced economy, and tackle gaps in the skills mix.

- General re-skilling and help with firms' succession planning to bring on new staff as older, experienced workers retire.

Ben Adams – 'practical help'

- Training and re-skilling for people being made redundant.

Ben Adams, the county council's cabinet member for learning and skills, said: "This is part of a much larger programme of investment in jobs and skills, which will help reduce unemployment even further in Staffordshire by offering practical help to let jobless people overcome whatever obstacles are in their way."

"It also improves the skills of people in work to improve their employability and their employers' productivity."

LFP chairman David Frost said: "A highly skilled workforce is key to our aims of creating a thriving local economy, attracting inward investment and helping businesses to grow."

Wildlife trust wants votes in quest for grants

STAFFORDSHIRE Wildlife Trust is appealing to shoppers to help the charity secure grants which would allow a number of nature conservation projects to be brought to life.

The funding is being provided by Tesco's Bags of Help initiative and has been raised through the 5p plastic carrier bag charge.

The supermarket chain has teamed up with Groundwork for the scheme, which will see grants of £8,000, £10,000 and £12,000 being awarded to environmental and greenspace projects.

Shoppers are being invited to vote in Tesco stores for who they believe should take away each of the three amounts. The money will be used to upgrade a wild classroom and install a shelter at the charity's Wolsley Centre near Rugeley.

The outdoor facility will be used by schools and community groups looking to learn about the natural world.

Customers will be able to cast their vote using a token given to them at the check-out each time they shop.

People can vote at the supermarkets in Cannock, Rugeley, Hednesford, and Brownhills, and the Tesco Express in Great Wyrley.

Voting is open until November 13.

Jaws 2 as Brum band bite back

ALBUMS

By Leon Burakowski

SIMPLICITY, second album from Jaws, is a Brummie blend of dream pop with swirling shoegazer rock.

Formed in the Second City four years ago, the trio have been identified with the 'B-Town scene' which also produced Peace and Swim Deep, and they toured with the former after the release of their debut album Be Slowly in 2014.

Simplicity is likeable but not perfect, Connor Schofield's voice seems low in the mix. Their neo-psychedelic sound has hints of The Cure and a dance influence but is let down by some baggy clunkers. See Jaws at The Rainbow on December 2.

Essex boy made good via The X Factor, Olly Murs has hit a slick groove of easy-on-the-ear pop with his fifth album 24 HRS, on which he has written all but one of the songs.

The album includes the singles You Don't Know Love and Grow Up and is released in standard and deluxe versions, the latter with four extra tracks.

Murs is due to play three consecutive nights at the Genting Arena from March 23, and has already sold out two.

From pop punk to stadium rock, Oakland's over-rated Green Day have become the kind of rock dinosaurs they once wanted to subvert. Well, that's getting older for you. And probably nobody would have guessed that their back catalogue would have provided a musical theatre hit in American Idiot.

Twenty two years on from their breakthrough with Dookie, Billie Joe Armstrong and co sound like The Who on Revolution Radio opener Some-where Now. But mostly its the familiar uptempo punky power pop, good but never special. They still sound closer to Busted than The Ramones or The Dead Kennedys.

Birmingham indie band Jaws are back with second album Simplicity

Ten years ago New Jersey band My Chemical Romance made The Black Parade, the 'emo' Sgt Pepper. If you can stomach the relentless doom and gloom of the lyrics, it's a solid rock album and the anniversary is marked by its re-release coupled with Living With Ghosts, unreleased demos and out-takes from the original recordings sessions with producer Rob Cavallo.

Is it possible for something new to give you nostalgia? I was left with an urge to get out a compilation album of 80s synth classics after listening to Friends (which should be subtitled: Are Electric), the fourth album from White Lies featuring the sonorous baritone vocals of Harry McVeigh.

These anthems hark back to the likes of Depeche Mode, The Human League, Flock of Seagulls and Simple Minds. Highlights include the stately Swing, slow-burning Come On, the magnificent Right Place and Roxy Music-like Don't Fall. White Lies are in concert at the O2 Institute in Birmingham on November 29.

Blending riot grrl attitude with sharp and melodic power pop, Honeyblood mark II's new album Babes Never Die is a treat from Glaswegian singer-guitarist Stina Tweeddale and her new tub-thumper Cat Myers. The duo play Digbeth's Rainbow on November 19.

Punk, psychedelia and early Pink Floyd are among the influences on Clear Shot, the defiantly lo-fi third album from Toy, the band most likely to be a UK equivalent to the Flaming Lips or Tame Impala. Highlights include Dream Orchestrator with its epic wall of sound. Prepare to have your mind expanded when they play Digbeth's Rainbow on November 22.

Ten years on from their debut, Irish hard rock outfit The Answer sound re-energised on their sixth album, So-las, which begins with its brooding Led Zep-like title track. Singer Cormac Neeson establishes himself as a prince of wails as the band's blues rock sound absorbs eastern and Celtic influences. The Answer are in concert at Birmingham's O2 Academy 2 on November 19.

Unit 12 and 13 Cannock Shopping Centre

Centre in marketing drive

STAFFORDSHIRE-BASED 8848 Communications have been appointed by High Green Court in Cannock to manage its marketing, PR and social media campaigns. The appointment was made by EDG Property, which asset manages the retail centre, following a competitive pitch process. Hazel Crawford, managing director of 8848 Communications, said: "It's great to be working with clients close to home and we'll no doubt use our experience working with other retail clients." Neil Edginton, a director for EDG, said: "These are exciting times for High Green Court."

'We'll fight on' pledge over rabbit farm ruling

THE owners of a Staffordshire firm that had its application for a rabbit farm rejected have vowed: "We will not give up."

Rugeley-based POE Ltd had hoped to sell the rabbits' meat, fur and by-products at the site in Gnosall, near Stafford. Bosses have now said they will appeal the decision.

They are accusing Stafford Borough Council of renegeing on an agreement to allow the company more time to alter the application.

The application was rejected last week.

Alina Muntean, from POE, claimed the council had told her she had until January to amend the application so discrepancies could be ironed out and items added – such as the potential to grow mushrooms at the site.

She also accused the council of not telling her that the application had been rejected, saying she found out second-hand.

Extend

She said: "We will not give up, we are definitely going to be appealing this decision."

"We had a meeting with people from planning about the application, and an agreement was put in writing to extend the deadline until January 31, 2017."

"This was because we explained that we wanted to do other things on the site such as grow mushrooms."

"We do not know what has happened or what has changed for the application to now all of a sudden be rejected but it is certainly not fair."

"We pay our taxes like everyone else, and it is not fair to do something like this to us – we have lost all the money we put into reports and preparing the application.

"Everybody seemed to know about this refusal except us – we were never told anything by the council."

Stafford Borough Council has refused the latter claim, saying they let the applicant know about the refusal before the decision was made public.

Council spokesman Jamie Summerfield said: "We let the applicant know on Monday, October 24 that the application would be refused."

"That decision was then posted on our website a few days later."

The decision to reject the application was welcomed by many, including campaign group Stop Gnosall's Cruel Rabbit Farm, whose petition received more than 70,000 signatures.

The group cancelled a protest planned in Stafford and said after the news broke of the application's refusal: "Thank you all so much to everyone who sent in their objections."

"They may be silent, but we have been loud and hard to ignore, and we have won," the statement added.

"We cannot get too complacent as there is always the possibility that it will be reapplied for, but be sure we are going to keep watch and keep you all updated."

MP commended for campaigning over murder case

SOUTH Staffordshire MP Gavin Williamson has been commended for his campaigning on behalf of a woman whose father was murdered in Jamaica.

Mr Williamson, who is Chief Whip and Secretary to the Treasury, was thanked by Zoe Bennett for his battle against the Jamaica Tourist Board. Her father Errol was murdered while he was on holiday in 2011 when he was killed by his nephew, who was eventually sentenced to four decades in jail.

Zoe, from Preston, had to face death threats, with Mr Williamson stepping in to aid her cause, ensuring she did not have to return to Jamaica. The Midlands Business and Community Charity Awards were subsequently set up by Zoe. They took place at the Copthorne Hotel in Merry Hill, Dudley.

All proceeds from the event are being donated to five charities – Olive Circle Foundation, Whizzkidz, Buddy Bag Foundation, Breast Cancer Now and Compton Hospice.

Mr Williamson, who received an honorary award, said: "The awards show just how lucky we are to have so many amazing people in the West Midlands."

"Huge congratulations to all of the winners and short-listed individuals."

Sixth form has track record of helping students attain goals

Commercial feature

Aspire, Believe, Achieve! This is our academy mission statement and something we truly believe in for all of our students at the academy.

Our sixth form is a growing area of the academy.

We offer a wide range of academic and vocational courses and have a proven track record of supporting our students to achieve their goals and ultimately gaining a place at university or securing full-time employment.

Last year more than 60 per cent of Year 13 leavers gained a place at university.

Opportunity

Sixth form students take an active role in academy life and have many opportunities to develop their life skills and other qualities that will prove valuable in the workplace.

Our students are fully involved in academy events, they work with children in other year groups and have an input in how we develop new ideas and initiatives.

The development of independence in our students is encouraged and students run many events and activities.

Students have the opportunity to work with external providers and regularly take part in work experience across a wide range of professions.

Active role – members of the sixth form leadership team at Staffordshire University Academy

Regular careers guidance is given as part of our tutor group sessions and regular assemblies.

In addition, there are regular visits from external providers to discuss future aspirations, ensuring students are well informed and aware of their options after sixth form study.

Our curriculum is tailored to meet the needs of all who join our sixth form.

There are academic subjects such as A-levels in English, maths, and science to name a few.

We also have a range of vocational options available which can be taken alongside A-levels or taken as stand-alone options.

Available

We have high aspirations for our students, and hard work is key to their success, but with the guidance and support of our staff we know that students are well equipped to achieve success at SUA6.

The Sixth Form Open Evening will be taking place on Thursday, November 17, from 5.30pm to 7pm.

There will be an opportunity to have a look around our fantastic academy building and meet teachers in all of our sixth form subjects.

Application forms and a prospectus will be available on the evening. A short presentation will be given at 5.45pm in the academy hall.

Year 12 students outside the school building

We warmly welcome all Year 11 students and their families to the event to find out about the opportunities available at SUA6.

Even if you do not attend Year 11 at our academy we would love to see you here and show you why we believe that SUA6 should be considered as an option for your sixth form education.

New prices are on way at Shugborough

FREE parking, new prices and a revamped ticket office – just some of the differences visitors can expect to see when they return to the Shugborough Estate next year.

Changes are already afoot at the historic 900-acre grounds in Stafford after the National Trust officially took back ownership from Staffordshire County Council last week.

The biggest difference that visitors will notice when the heritage site re-opens on March 21 next year is how much they will have to pay.

The trust has scrapped the council's three-tier pricing structure, which saw people able to enter the gardens for £3.50, with a full access ticket setting them back £15.

From next year, admission to Shugborough will be at a flat rate of £12.

The charity will also be removing the £3 parking fee.

Access to a public right of way through the site, which up until now has proved popular with dog walkers, will still be maintained and will be free to use.

Project manager Hayley Mival

Another change will see the withdrawal of the £25 annual passes to the estate, which have allowed the holder to visit as many times as they want between March and October.

Instead, visitors to Shugborough will be able to purchase a National Trust annual membership for £63.

The trust has said that this will also allow unlimited access to the charity's other 350 attractions.

They include the likes of Kinver Edge and the Rock Houses, as well as the Elizabethan farmhouse Moseley Old Hall.

Keen

People will also be able to visit Shugborough at any point in the year, with the site set to be open 364 days a year once it is up and running.

National Trust project manager Hayley Mival said: "We are keen for both people outside of Staffordshire and people who live in the county to come and see this fantastic jewel that Staffordshire has got."

"The changes will help it reach its potential that perhaps it has not in the past."

"Ultimately we want to give people a reason to visit Shugborough."

Pet store staff are in the winner's Corner

The team from Pets Corner in Hednesford with comedian and actor Chris Barrie, right, who presented the awards

A Cannock Chase pet store has scooped a national award. Pets Corner in Hednesford was crowned Pet Retail Chain of the Year at the Pet Industry Federation Awards on Tuesday.

It is the third time in a row the franchise has bagged the honour, with its stores in Cheltenham and Warminster bagging the title in 2014 and 2015 respectively. Lauren Elshaw, manager at Pets Corner in Hednesford, said:

"We are thrilled to have won Pet Retail Chain of the Year 2016 and join our colleagues at Cheltenham and Warminster in receiving this much coveted title."

"We are really proud of everything we do at Hednesford and have worked extremely hard to ensure all our customers – both animal and human – receive a warm and friendly welcome and the best possible expert advice."

Dean Richmond, managing director of the firm, said: "Great work, Hednesford. I knew they could do it."

"They work tirelessly to make sure their store is one of the best in the company and are consistently going above and beyond by coming up with new ideas. I love receiving the regular feedback from customers praising their efforts so this is a very well deserved win – congratulations."

Shire Oak's sixth of the best to make memorable schooldays

Commercial feature

If the well-known phrase about school days being the happiest days of your life is true, surely it is also true that those spent in the sixth form are the very best of all!

We especially see this at Shire Oak where our sixth formers continue to amaze us with their drive towards excellence alongside their spirited approach to life.

Indeed the success of Shire Oak Academy Sixth Form can be measured not only by the results the students have achieved over the last five years, nor by the number that go onto universities or apprenticeships, but by the fond memories with which they leave our sixth form.

Through a combination of rigorous monitoring, high standards of care, an excellent curriculum and staff with a real passion for learning, the academy continues to push itself to the forefront of post-16 education. Indeed records continued to tumble in the summer with last years year 13 achieving the most number of A's ever, the highest points per student ever and the highest percentage of students achieving A*-B.

The governing body has been keen to support the drive in post-16 standards, investing heavily in the facilities and support structure. The sixth form proudly boasts an outstanding, modern learning environment with a wide range of facilities to help students to reach their potential.

Part of the sixth form suite, an outstanding, modern learning environment with a wide range of facilities

With the opening two years ago of our new sixth form suite along with a dedicated study block, students can enjoy dedicated facilities, including an ICT suite, toilets, work areas, classroom, offices and enough space for over 250 students to socialise and relax between study.

The addition of 'The Loakal', our sixth form and staff cafe, has only further enhanced our outstanding facilities and ensured the students have everything they need to succeed. In our recent Ofsted inspection it was commented that 'the sixth form is good. It is well-led, and students benefit from good teaching and achieve well'.

The inspectors also commented 'students are given good support and guidance and are well-prepared for the next stage in their learning and for future employment'.

Work Experience: This summer term our year 12 students engaged in another highly successful period of work experience. Our programme encourages students to actively seek placements by making contact directly to relevant companies to give them the full experience of job searching and completing applications.

With the support of our sixth form team the students managed to secure some fantastic placements and gain many invaluable experiences. From large multinational companies to small local business our students were placed all over the West Midlands.

Indeed following many successful placements in previous years we have excellent contacts and working relationships with reputable and well-recognised companies such as; Interserve Plc, Marks and Spencer Plc, Walsall Manor Hospital, New Cross Hospital, Walsall Council, Fairlawns Hotel and Spa, Walsall Football Club, Tesco Pharmacies, Parr Carr Estate Agents and Ricoh UK to name a few.

Making memories at Shire Oak Academy Sixth Form

Farmers and MP in talks on Brexit vote

Lichfield MP Michael Fabricant, right, and David Lane, who chaired the meeting, hold the NFU Pledge along with other farmers

STAFFORDSHIRE MP Michael Fabricant met local farmers to discuss their concerns following the Brexit vote.

The meeting at Curborough Hall Farm near Lichfield was arranged by the National Farmers' Union (NFU).

"No business likes uncertainty and I was keen to explain what the Government aims to do and how it will implement it post-Brexit in a couple or so years' time," Mr Fabricant said. "While local farmers naturally have their concerns, I was very encouraged to hear that the NFU see Brexit as a wonderful opportunity for British farming.

"I told the meeting that I am keen that we introduce highly prominent 'Sourced in England' labelling for products like milk and beef which are currently banned under EU rules," the Lichfield MP added.

"Finally, I signed the NFU Pledge to back British farming post-Brexit."

Rail franchise 'a boost'

AN integrated rail franchise combining HS2 with the West Coast Main Line will provide a boost to Staffordshire's rail services, the county's economic growth leader says.

The franchise, announced by the Government, will be called the West Coast Partnership and is scheduled to start on April 1, 2019.

The chosen operator would be responsible for West Coast Main Line services and the first HS2 services from 2026. Mark Winnington, who is also chairman of the West Midlands Rail Consortium, said that following the news that Stafford will become an HS2 hub with direct links to the line, the latest announcement of a single operator for the West Coast Main Line and HS2 was 'a welcome one'.

He added: "It recognises the West Coast Main Line as one of the most important strategic rail routes in the UK."

"The West Midlands Rail Consortium has had an input in this process, and we will be in continued contact with the Department for Transport and the Secretary of State. A fully integrated HS2 and main line rail network will make Staffordshire even better connected, offering benefits for local commuters, businesses and our visitor economy.

"We will of course carry on our work to mitigate the impact of HS2."

Last week, the 'Changing Britain: HS2 taking root' report by Sir David Higgins, chairman of HS2 Ltd, was published. It included details of the Stafford to HS2 link at Handsacre, meaning hybrid services could reach London Euston in 53 minutes.

JCB UK and Ireland sales director Dan Thompstone, A-Plant marketing director Asif Latief and Greenshields JCB national accounts director Tom Greenshields

JCB has secured a £35 million order for 1,200 of its machines, bought by the UK's biggest plant hire firm.

The contract from A-Plant, which bought 1,500 JCB machines worth £50 million last year, will mean a busy time for the company's team at its factory in Rugeley, which makes cabs for most JCB equipment.

The deal is also good news for JCB's other Staffordshire factories in Uttoxeter, Rokester and Cheadle, which will manufacture 13-ton tracked excavators, mini excavators, Loadall telescopic handlers and rough terrain forklift trucks which have been ordered. And the plant at Rugeley will be making cabs for most of the machines.

A-Plant is also buying a fleet of JCB site dumpers and 40 generators that could provide enough power to run two hospitals or 1,000 homes.

All the machines are being supplied by JCB dealer Greenshields

JCB. JCB UK & Ireland sales director Dan Thompstone said: "JCB has a long-standing relationship with A-Plant and we are delighted to cement that with this huge order."

unrivalled parts and service back-up from the JCB UK dealer network."

A-Plant, which is part of FTSE-100 company Ashted Group, has more than 150 service centres in Britain, including branches in Willenhall, Oldbury, Smethwick and Walsall Wood.

Just fabulous – Cliff in county gig on UK tour

POP icon Sir Cliff Richard will play a show in Staffordshire as part of a tour of the UK next summer.

The singer will mark the release of his new album 'Just Fabulous Rock 'n' Roll' with the summer tour of the UK's most beautiful castles and historic locations.

The 76-year-old will perform at Eastnor Castle, Stanstead Park, Harewood House and more, as well as coming to Staffordshire and Shropshire for shows at Catton Hall, near Burton upon Trent, on June 22, and Walcot Hall, Shropshire on June 21.

Tickets for the all-seated shows will be priced between £45 and £65 and will go on sale at 10am on Monday, November 14.

Music lovers who are members of Sir Cliff's fan club will be able to get their hands on tickets through a pre-

Sir Cliff Richard – loyal following sale this Saturday, as will those who pre-order the new album prior to November 12.

The tour will be a series of fully seated outdoor concerts in intimate arenas built especially for Cliff and his fans. Of the set-up at the shows, he said: "They are like festival shows, open-air concerts."

"We're doing two in Denmark, one in Ireland and nine in Britain," he added.

The show at Catton Hall will see Cliff and his notoriously loyal following take over the private estate, which has been owned by the same family for more than 600 years.

Classics

Set in 250 acres of surrounding parkland, the site has been hosting events for more than 25 years, ranging from horse trials to rock concerts.

Sir Cliff's new album, which is his 101st release, includes new versions of rock 'n' roll classics such as Roll Over Beethoven, Great Balls of Fire, Sweet Little Sixteen and his own debut single, Move It, as well as a duet with fellow idol Elvis Presley on Blue Suede Shoes.

Hearing solutions work

Today's hearing technology has a lot more upsides than just looking stylish.

Wireless connectivity, supreme sound quality and clever speech detection are just some of the exciting features.

There's never been a better time to try it out. You'll be amazed.

Here are eight reasons for taking action:

- 1) You'll hear better – rediscover the sounds you've been missing.
- 2) Your family and friends won't have to repeat, shout or tolerate the TV being so loud.
- 3) Enjoy going to restaurants again – hearing technology focuses on speech and reduces background noise so you can follow conversations.
- 4) No more turning up the volume – wireless hearing solutions stream sound directly from your TV to your hearing instruments so everyone can listen at their preferred volume.
- 5) You'll boost your confidence – when you hear clearly, you'll be more self-assured at work, at home and in social situations.
- 6) You'll enjoy music again – Audibel hearing solutions are specifically engineered to enhance the enjoyment of music.
- 7) Treating hearing loss can positively impact your earning power.
- 8) No more faux pas – mishearing can lead to embarrassing situations.

If you're one of the millions of adults who haven't sought help for your hearing loss, you're missing out on plenty.

Audibel has helped thousands of people across the world to hear better. Right now you can trial the latest technology free for 30 days.

RETHINK REMEMBRANCE

There's a new generation of veterans that need your support.

This year, The Royal British Legion is asking the nation to Rethink Remembrance by recognising the sacrifices made not just by the Armed Forces of the past, but by today's generation too.

For many people, Remembrance is associated with the fallen of the First and Second World Wars. While we will always remember them, the Legion wants to raise awareness of a new generation of veterans and Service personnel that need our support.

Rethink Remembrance this Poppy Appeal.

Company to the rescue of school hit by raids

A SCHOOL targeted by vandals three times in as many weeks is getting back to normal after carrying out security improvements.

Chasetown Community School shut its doors after raiders stole computer tablets and money raised for this year's Poppy Appeal from inside the Church Street building after forcing entry.

By Jordan Harris

The school reopened to Key Stage Three pupils on Thursday and was reopening to Key Stage Two pupils this week after carrying out security work, including the installation of high-security doors donated by Birmingham business Warrior Doors.

The company is also manufacturing a number of security cabinets to keep the pupils' technology equipment safe.

Brett Barratt, managing director, said: "I was sickened when I was told that the school had been broken into three times in just a few weeks, and I wanted to do something to help them."

Steven Norman, chair of governors at Chasetown Community School, said:

"This is an amazingly generous offer by Warrior Doors."

"We were worrying about how we were going to afford the much-needed improvements our school needs. Christmas has come early for us."

Erasmus Darwin Academy off Pool Road was also hit by thieves around the same time.

Staffordshire Police have said it is a 'possibility' that the two incidents are linked.

Local Policing Team Commander, Insp Rob Neeson said: "I would urge anyone who has any information about these incidents to contact us on 101 quoting incident 37 of November 2."

Homes firm makes key appointments

Josh Allen is the new IT manager while Emma Graham has joined as office manager and PA to the managing director

TWO key appointments have been made at growing Burntwood building firm Cameron Homes. It has created the new positions at its head office in Chasetown.

Emma Graham, of Wolverhampton, has joined the family-owned business, which builds new developments throughout the Midlands, as office manager and personal assistant to managing director Ian Burns.

She has 16 years' experience in working for senior executives for national and global organisations such as Celgene Europe and Pitney Bowes MapInfo, as well as other construction companies.

"My goal is always to deliver an all-encompassing service, covering a range of disciplines including personal assistance, office management, recruitment, finance liaison, HR and customer service, which is rated as second to none," she said.

Emma is joined at the firm by Josh Allen, recruited as a new IT manager. He is a computing science graduate of Staffordshire University.

Discounts galore from celebratory jewellers

Jonathan Jewellers would like to invite customers to join with them to celebrate its 25th anniversary.

They are offering 25% discount off all, which seems very appropriate to the occasion. Mike Chatwin opened Johnathans in November 1991, when Sue Jones took on the role as manageress. Sue has continued to do a magnificent job managing the shop all these years, with the help of her supportive staff.

"I would like to take this opportunity to say a big thank you to all who have been involved in Johnathans over the years," said Sue.

Sue Jones and Mike Chatwin

Mike Chatwin has now sold Chatwin Jewellers in Cannock Shopping Centre and semi-retired. He hopes to spend some time at Johnathans, with Sue still managing the shop.

They have more stock now than ever before, including lots of pre-owned items, which has been built up over the years. With the 25% discount, staff believe the offers represent unrepeatable value.

Among the watch brands they carry are Rotary, Bering & Accurist, Lorus and Sekonda, which are all displayed in the windows with a large choice of styles. They also stock a huge range of diamond jewellery including Hot Diamonds, a silver and diamond design company.

The business is also stockists

Christmas in Staffordshire

of Troll Beads, the original Bead Company established 1976. They create many designs in their large selection of high quality Italian glass beads and silver bracelets and links.

"We do a lot of watch repairs on the premises and jewellery repairs are undertaken too," said Mr Chatwin.

"I find it hard to believe that 25 years have passed since Johnathans was opened. I always hoped my son Johnathan would come into the business, but alas he chose the academic route!"

Festive fun and more at popular shopping centre

Enjoy your Christmas festivities in style this year with Brewery Street shopping centre's light switch on.

This year it takes place on December 2, coinciding with Rugeley's late night shopping event and promises to be a day of fun and laughter for all ages. Doors open at 8.30am with the café serving a wide range of food and beverages including the famous all day breakfast.

New shops this year include a ladies wear and lingerie shop, mobile phone repairs, nail technician, plus a recently extended computer shop, as well as all your old favourites. For a full list of shops see the Brewery Street Shopping Centre Facebook page.

Whilst you shop, make the most of facilities including free parking, toilets and baby change. Don't miss the famous Brewery Street model railway and new for 2016 a model village.

The real fun begins with DJ Graham playing all your favourite festive tunes. Why not challenge him with a request? If he hasn't got it then it's probably not worth listening to. Once darkness is upon us, the job of turning this years lights will fall to Brewery Street regular Irene Hooley. The car park will play host to a range of fairground rides and there is a whisper that Santa could be appearing with Mrs Claus in their brand new grotto. Following on from the switch on you can catch Santa every Saturday up to and including Christmas Eve between 10am and 3pm.

For only £2.50 you can see the man himself have a framed photo and a selection box. The centre will close from December 25 to 29 then reopen until December 31. New year opening begins January 2.

Create memories that last for ever

Hawkesyard Estate – perfect venue for a fabulous wedding

One of Staffordshire's premier venues for weddings, Hawkesyard Estate, offers a historical, stunning and unique setting.

Located on the edge of Cannock Chase, it is just 10 minutes from Lichfield and 20 minutes from Stafford and Cannock.

"Hawkesyard Estate is absolutely steeped in Staffordshire history with our majestic Grade II listed hall, beautifully established gardens, and ornate orangery garden bar," says Ruth Whorton, the director responsible for overseeing the operation of weddings and events at the venue. The hall's inspiring entrance and sweeping staircase never fail to impress visitors and its orangery keeps guests entertained and close whilst the newlyweds capture treasured memories.

And then, when it's time to head for your reception, your banqueting suite is ready and awaiting your arrival in another unique setting in the hall. For couples seeking great memories of their special day Hawkesyard has much to offer.

"We don't just recognise the weddings to come at Hawkesyard Estate, we celebrate the weddings of the past, as located on the estate is our very own bell tower that displays names and dates of all our previous couples who shared their civil ceremony with us.

"Our dedicated wedding co-ordinators will always go that extra mile to provide a truly customer-orientated service from the initial enquiry, through to the big day itself, ensuring everything runs smoothly, allowing the newlyweds to relax and enjoy every precious moment of, what will undoubtedly be, one of the most memorable days of their lives."

In Germany, Austria, Poland, Russia, Eastern Europe and even America more and more people are choosing to heat their homes and offices with a very special form of electric heating in preference to gas, oil, LPG or any other form of conventional central heating or Economy 7.

Here in the UK, more and more of our customers are making the same decision!

When you see this incredible heating for yourself, you could be next!

All you need is standard electricity supply and NO special tariff like Economy 7. The heating looks just like a conventional radiator, but STOP! It is very, very different! Why?

Put simply, central heating isn't the only choice anymore! Now you can choose to heat your homes, offices, extensions, conservatories with this incredible German heating which provides individual control over every single room without the need for a central control or space to site a boiler. Now the boiler space can become a valuable storage area!

Installation takes minutes and running is completely clean, no danger of leakage, no holes through walls, no floorboards up and no tradesmen trundling around the house wielding pipe cutters, spanners, hammers, wrenches and work boots. This incredible German heating simply plugs in and that's it. Job Done! You can even do just one room or the whole house! Get your free info pack right away by calling 01889 576732.

Festive display up and running

C Piper and Sons Ltd nurseries at Gailey has changed a lot over the years.

The nurseries which were originally located at Coven, moved to Gailey in 1965 as it had outgrown the site.

The generations of growers in the family has continued and so we have to move with the times.

Still a traditional growing establishment, producing plants to a high quality, Piper's have had a garden centre on site for about 20 years, a tearoom and now a craft village.

Christmas trees will soon fill our car park; fresh cut and quality as well as poinsettias and planted arrangements.

The Christmas display is up and running with beautiful and originally designed baubles and tree decorations.

We have giftware ideas throughout the centre and our craft village has some lovely shops with Christmas in mind, from floral gifts, antiques, curios, spiritualist gifts and also the new miniature gardening craze.

It is now stockists of German glow bowls. A whole world of new products awaits you in store.

Cold weather can be a killer

Christmas in
Staffordshire

There are some simple things you can do to support elderly people through the cold weather:

- Call in or visit more often if the cold weather stops your friend or family member from getting out and about. Calling in on someone can help keep their spirits up and make them feel less isolated.

- Make sure they have basic food items in the cupboard or freezer in case it's too cold to go shopping.

- Pick up prescriptions if it's too cold for them to go out, or find out if their local pharmacy offers a prescription pick-up and delivery service.

- Make sure they don't have a fall. Bring round a mixture of salt and sand for putting on steps or paths in icy weather. Some councils provide free bags of the mix, otherwise try a local DIY store.

- Encourage them to keep warm. The main living room should be heated to 70F/21C, and the rest of the house at least 64F/18C. Low temperatures increase the risk of flu and respiratory problems and can raise blood pressure. The Winter Wrapped Up booklet has an inbuilt thermometer. Call 01785 788499 to get your copy.

- Help them get a benefits check to make sure they're claiming everything they're eligible for. Age UK South Staffordshire's Information and Advice team can support with benefits checks and information and signposting. The helpline is 01785 788 499.

Help older people stay warm this winter

- Download the Winter Wrapped Up booklet. This booklet is very helpful and crammed full of hints and tips, including a free thermometer. To request a booklet call 01785 788499 and quote Winter Warmth Booklet.

- Flexible support for day care, respite and help in the home can be provided, by a range of adaptable cost-effective services through Age UK South Staffordshire. This can include personal care and night sitting, and a regular companion at home or for trips, events and social support. Information on these services is available via our careline 01785 788477.

- Would you consider volunteering to support an older person in their own homes, supporting our Care Navigation Service offering transport or accompanying someone to appointments? Maybe you can support via the telephone, help with activities, or group walks, exercise classes? We also have opportunities in primary schools listening to children read. Here's some food for thought from the Whitehouse family

What would Christmas be without the turkey? Well it really wouldn't be Christmas at all! The people of Staffordshire need not worry as once again the Whitehouse family are here to put quality fresh meat and frozen food on tables of the community this festive season.

With their new look store now open at Grey Friars' place Stafford, the company is making headway with a rebrand across all five of its fresh meat and frozen food outlets as it heads into the New Year.

The Whitehouse family are moving into the 21st century and have begun a company-wide rebrand to 'Whitehouse Foods', a moniker, which their new Stafford store has been the first to adopt.

As company director Steven explains: "We have become so much more than your local butcher and we feel our Whitehouse Brothers Meat Market label falls short of capturing that versatility and range we have to offer." Expect stores in Burntwood, Cannock, Hednesford and Rugeley to follow suit soon.

It is clear to see that the focus and pride is still vested in a fresh meat range, with an in-house butcher on hand in every store able to create bespoke cuts for more discerning clients. However, the frozen selection of vegetables, party food, fish and meat products offers shoppers a one-stop-shop for all weekly essentials.

The focus on quality also looks set to stay with the five stores boasting a range of meat dedicated to British Farmers and producers. Joint company director Andrew states: "Getting to know our consumer is something we put a lot of effort into, through in-store suggestions, emails and social media.

"There's an overwhelming demand for British produce and so we're continually developing the range with the customer's needs in mind.

"Year round mix-and-match deals on food throughout the stores, such as two for £5, two for £10, along with weekly offers help to cut down those food bills." As the festive season draws near, the stores have released their super Turkey and Hamper deals (find these on the back page), which can be ordered at any store, anytime up until December 12.

"Although this busy time of year carries a lot of hard work, the stores are brimming with a buzz and atmosphere of new and old customers. This brings the best out of our store teams, who are always happy to help no matter the request," expresses Steven.

Not only are these festive deals excellent value, every customer who places an order gets put into a prize draw in which 10 lucky customers win their complete order. One special customer will win free meat for a whole year – yes, you read that correctly, free meat for a year.

All orders are placed through the companywide loyalty and savings

A selection of vegetables, party food, fish and meat products card scheme or the 'W card' which enables customers to collect one point for every £1 spent.

Once 500 points have been collected they can be transferred into £5 to spend in-store.

The cards can also be used as a savings card to put money aside for big events such as Christmas.

The Whitehouse stores are always looking for ways to improve the experience for their customers, be it with super deals, great quality or fantastic customer service.

Nothing to lose but inhibitions

They can keep their hat on – the cast of The Full Monty, the musical about steel workers who become strippers

THE hit musical about jobless Yorkshire steel workers who find a revealing way to make money, The Full Monty, arrives at Birmingham Hippodrome on Monday for a six day run.

Nearly 20 years ago the movie about six out-of-work Sheffield steelmen, left with nothing to lose but their inhibitions, went on to be one of the most successful British films. The story still resonates in an age of job insecurity.

Simon Beaufoy, the Oscar and BAFTA-winning writer, adapted his own screenplay for the hilarious and heartfelt stage production, which features iconic songs by Donna Summer, Hot Chocolate and Tom Jones.

This touring production of the former West End hit is led by Gary Lucy as Gaz, with Andrew Dunn as Gerald, Louis Emerick as Horse, Chris Fountain as Guy and Kai Owen as Dave. Anthony Lewis will now be playing the role of Lomper as Joe Absalom had to withdraw due to filming commitments.

Anthony Lewis is best known as Marc Reynolds in Emmerdale. Gary Lucy played Danny Pennant in EastEnders, DS Will Fletcher in The Bill, Kyle Pascoe in Footballer's Wives and Luke Morgan in Hollyoaks, and was a runner-up in Dancing on Ice.

Andrew Dunn is best known as Tony in Dinnerladies, while Louis

Emerick played Mick Johnson in the Merseyside soap Brookside and PC Walsh in the long-running sitcom Last of the Summer Wine.

Chris Fountain played Tommy Duckworth in Coronation Street and was a runner-up of Dancing on Ice. Kai Owen is best known for his roles in Torchwood and Hollyoaks.

Director Jack Ryder, who is best known for playing Jamie Mitchell in EastEnders, also directed the national touring production of hit show Calendar Girls.

Is Our House up your street?

BILSTON Operatic Company return to Wolverhampton Grand Theatre with the Madness musical Our House, following the success of last year's production of Hairspray.

The show, which starts a five-day run on Tuesday, combines a witty romance with the energetic songs of Madness. It follows Joe Casey who, on his 16th birthday, takes Sarah, the girl of his dreams, out on their first date. In an effort to impress her with bravado, he breaks into a building site overlooking his home on Casey Street. The police turn up at which point Joe's life splits into two – Good Joe, who stays to help, and Bad Joe, who flees.

Our House won the Olivier Award For Best New Musical in 2003 and ran for 10 months at London's Cambridge Theatre. It features the songs It Must Be Love, Baggy Trousers, Night Boat To Cairo, House Of Fun, Driving In My Car and, of course, Our House.

This amateur production is directed and choreographed by Laura Canadine. Birmingham Ormiston Academy student Ben Evans from Lower Penn plays Joe and playing Sarah is Abi Strudwicke, of Codsall Wood, who is head girl at Thomas Telford School. Both are pictured left.

Mike James and Sue Towler play Joe's parents with the cast of talented local performers also including Tom Withers, Matt Coombes, Jordan Barrett, Katie Harrison, Jacob Kholi and Al Smith.

For tickets see grandtheatre.co.uk or call 01902 429212. Bilston Operatic Society's productions at the Grand in recent years have also included Hairspray, Peter Pan, Annie and Hello, Dolly!

Strictly Come Dancing (BBC1, 6.55pm)
For many fans, Halloween Week is one of the highlights of the Strictly calendar, and it certainly delivered this year. The wardrobe and makeup departments let their imaginations run away with them, although arguably the biggest shock came when Ed Balls scored an eight for his mad-scientist-themed cha cha (followed closely by Danny Mac proving he is fallible after all when he stumbled in his foxtro). But now another Strictly milestone is looming as next week, the show will be coming to us live from Blackpool, and none of the eight remaining celebs will want to miss out on a trip to ballroom dancing's spiritual home. But who will impress judges and the voting public?

New drama hopes to be a novel success

Actress Phoebe Fox is clearly in demand at the moment – not only can she be seen in Stephen Poliakoff's latest series, Close to the Enemy, she's also cropping up in another one of BBC Two's most prestigious offerings, NW.

Adapted from Zadie Smith's best-selling novel, the feature-length drama follows Natalie (Nikki Amuka-Bird) and Leah (Fox), two friends who grew up together in north-west London, but whose lives have taken them in very different directions.

Phoebe explains: "Leah and Natalie both grew up on the same estate, they are best friends but they have reached a point in their lives where they are so far away from each other.

"Natalie's lost sight of who she is and it's hard for a friendship to survive when you don't recognise your best friend anymore. They love each other but they also sort of hate each other's guts. It's a very complicated relationship."

Her co-star Nikki adds: "Natalie starts out life as Keisha. From a modest background, she's incredibly intelligent and driven, and pushes herself on to university, eventually becoming a barrister. She then marries the 'perfect' man, has two children and seems like she has the perfect life.

"She's a miracle of her own self-invention, but she reaches a point in her mid-thirties where she asks herself what it's all about and has an existential crisis. It's at this time in her life that we meet Natalie in NW."

So, at least she still has something in common with Leah, who is facing some big decisions of her own. Phoebe says: "She's dealing with something that is still quite taboo for women to talk about; she doesn't want to have kids. That's her main story within the book and the screenplay. We see her having to confront something which is seen as being so fundamentally female."

It's one of the elements that drew the actress to the role. "It's very rare to see such finely drawn female characters, for them to be dealing with issues that are so true to life, instead of worrying about whether a guy likes them or not.

"As an actress you spend a lot of time in those kind of roles, falling in and out of love with the right and the wrong man; so to actually address deeper issues was really exciting. A lot of my friends don't want to have kids, it's not a cut and dry issue for our generation, so Leah felt very real – that really appealed to me."

And it's not just the characters that felt authentic – the contemporary London setting did too. Asked what viewers can expect from NW, Phoebe says: "I think they can expect a portrait of London with a very emotional core to it, depicting the city and its inhabitants, in all of its nastiness but also all of its glory."

The drama shows that Leah and Natalie are living in an area where poverty and wealth are just streets apart – and when they are both brought into contact with two other characters from their old estate, the tensions threaten to reach breaking point.

A fishy story – two sea bass served with root vegetables and mash

Rustic restaurant – inside is authentic and relaxed

Taste of Italy – Cafe Casita Ristorante Italiano

Traditional taste – homemade tiramisu

It's no secret now, this Italian restaurant was just the job

By James Driver-Fisher

ITALIAN has always been a personal preference so when our six-year wedding anniversary came up we decided it would be the perfect excuse to sample one of the local eateries.

There is just something about the food, wine and atmosphere that seems to tick all the boxes for such occasions.

Our choice was Cafe Casita, in Clarence Street, Dudley, which we had previously been assured had a lovely relaxed and rustic feel about it.

It was exactly what we had hoped for with the set up being not too posh but fancy enough to enjoy a special meal.

Under the management of Anna and Erminio who have a passion for creating a memorable experience, the restaurant specialises in seafood – particularly dover sole, salmon, monkfish, seabass and lemon sole – which again ticked all the boxes for us.

Without trying to sound too set in my ways, the first thing my eyes are always drawn to for a main is some sort of seafood pasta but of course there were drinks, nibbles and starters to sort out first.

After much deliberation Kelly opted for fungi in crosta, mushrooms wrapped in filo pastry topped with a light creamy infusion of bacon, mushrooms and mozzarella.

My choice was salsiccia picante, spicy Italian sausage oven-baked with a combination of peppers, onions and tomatoes. The sauce for the salsiccia picante was rich, thick and bursting with tomato and garlic.

Kelly's starter was probably the polar opposite because, still packed full of flavour, it was a much lighter option and really very tasty. Perhaps one of the nicest things about the whole evening was at no point did we feel rushed.

Choosing a meal was a seriously hard task because of the options available but a decision had to be made and Kelly's eyes were immediately drawn to the chef's specials, the sea bass in particular, which came with a sauce, root vegetables and a bed of mash potatoes.

Crispy

The sea bass was cooked very nicely and remained slightly crispy on the outside.

I went with what I knew I'd love and ordered the tagliolini gameroni, Italy's finest noodles, according to the menu, tossed in king prawns, garlic and cherry tomatoes, served in a creamy sauce with a touch of chilli.

Having tried numerous fish-based dishes in restaurants I can safely say the tagliolini gameroni was up there with the best. Having had starters, a few side dishes and a main meant there was no room for a sweet course, so we kindly passed on the dessert menu although the tiramisu did look tempting.

The café-style décor of the venue really does add to the experience because, although it's nothing like your run-of-mill greasy spoon, the seating, layout and general feel of the restaurant is designed to make diners feel at home.

Cafe Casita classes itself as one of the Black Country's best kept secrets within the dining scene.

The restaurant was packed while we were there and everyone seemed to be enjoying the atmosphere and food as much as we were – so perhaps it won't be a best kept secret for much longer.

YOUR WEEKLY GUIDE TO THE BEST CARS ON THE MARKET

Major revisions for Skoda's best-seller

Škoda has made major revisions to its best-selling model, the Octavia. Available early 2017 in the UK, the model features a newly designed front and rear section, state-of-the-art driver assistance systems, infotainment and connectivity, as well as additional new equipment which further enhance the Octavia's appeal. The compact model is available in hatch and estate form.

"The Škoda Octavia has always been in a class of its own in the compact segment," says Škoda CEO Bernhard Maier. "As the 'heart of the brand', the Octavia has decisively shaped Škoda's outstanding development from the very start, and has made the company what it is today: an internationally successful automotive manufacturer with a presence in more than 100 markets worldwide. With the now extensively revised Škoda Octavia, we are keen to continue this development sustainably."

The Octavia is the Czech automaker's best-selling model. At the upper end of its segment, Škoda's bestseller has set new standards in terms of space, functionality, safety and comfort technology, design and value for money. In the 20 years since the 1996 reintroduction of the Octavia, five million customers from all over the world have opted for an Octavia.

The lines have been further streamlined, especially at the front. The two adjacent headlights form the dual face with a crystalline look and feature full-LED technology. The brand logo has gained even more presence, with the front of the car featuring a more powerful and wider appearance.

The space available in the revised Škoda Octavia remains one of the largest in its class. Both the saloon and estate offer 1,782 millimetres of interior space and 73 millimetres of legroom in the rear. Their luggage compartments measure 590 and 610 litres, respectively; with folded rear seat backrests up to 1,580 and 1,740 litres respectively. There is an optional electric tailgate available for Octavia estate.

The revision has brought new infotainment systems. All three systems now have capacitive displays in glass design that respond to light touch. Octavia is also moving ahead with assistance systems.

If the car is used as a towing vehicle, the trailer assistant will take over the steering when the vehicle is slowly reversing. Predictive pedestrian protection complements Front Assist. In addition, the parking assistant has been further optimised.

Thanks to the rear radar, Blind Spot Detection and Rear Traffic Alert ensure safe lane changes and also help while reversing out of a parking space. The rear-view camera displays the car's immediate surroundings via the on-board monitor.

New features have been added to the 'Simply Clever' solutions: a customisable key, allowing multiple users to save their own vehicle settings, as well as a heated steering wheel, bottle holders which facilitate the opening of bottles, and the estate version features a removable torch in the boot.

The two TSI and two TDI engines available from launch in the UK are: 1.0 TSI 115PS, 1.4 TSI 150PS, 1.6 TDI 115PS and 2.0 TDI 150PS. For almost all engines in the revised Škoda Octavia, a DSG transmission with six or seven gears is available in addition to manual transmission.

Prepare your car for the winter season with these five top tips

The nights are drawing in, the leaves have fallen from the trees and there's a distinct chill in the air.

Winter is around the corner, and it's a challenging time of year for your pride and joy.

With that in mind we've put together a quick checklist to make sure your car's in the best possible shape for winter.

- Fit winter tyres

When temperatures fall below seven degrees, winter tyres provide more grip than normal rubber, and their performance in snowy and wet conditions is vastly superior.

In fact, they can make such a difference that countries including Germany and Austria have made them compulsory during the winter months.

Beware, though, that you'll need to keep your summer tyres for when the weather improves, because above seven degrees, winter rubber becomes less effective. Rather than changing the tyres themselves, it's often easiest to put winter tyres on some cheap steel wheels and simply run the car on those between December and April before swapping back to your nice, shiny alloys.

- Snow chains

Snow chains are rarely useful in the UK, but if you plan to take your car abroad, you'll find they're often a legal requirement.

Don't use them unless you absolutely have to, though, because they tear up roads and offer far less grip than winter tyres unless there's snow under the wheels. It's also worth noting that some modern cars can't accommodate snow chains thanks to their huge alloy wheels, and that some alternatives, such as snow socks, are illegal in some countries.

- Carry blankets and warm clothing

Getting stuck by the side of the road due to a breakdown or an accident is never a pleasant experience, but it's far worse in the depths of winter.

- Check your lights

With days getting shorter, now is a good time to make sure your lights are working.

Switch the headlights on and walk around the car checking each bulb in turn, then ensure that the indicators are working and use a reflective surface such as a window or garage door to make sure the brake

Fit winter tyres as they provide more grip than normal rubber lights work. Many people forget that lights are not just for seeing with – it's important that you can be seen easily by other road users. If the weather turns snowy, rainy or foggy, turn your lights on to make sure everyone else knows you're there.

- Top up vital fluids

Winter's salty roads and inclement weather mean you're likely to use far more windscreen washer fluid than normal, so make sure you've got plenty in the bottle. In the summer, you can use more water than washer fluid, but the fluid should be less dilute in winter because the fluid has an anti-freezing agent in it.

It's also worth checking all the car's other vital fluids, such as oil and coolant – you don't want to break down if you can possibly avoid it.

The current Fiesta is eight years old but still looks fresh

Sporty-looking ST Line is a refresh of the Zetec S

By James Parker

Ford's Zetec S trim level has been replaced by the sporty-looking ST Line. We went to find out whether the car's appeal has increased as a result.

Less than you might think. This is the Fiesta we all know and love, and though the Ford dealer may tell you that ST-Line is an all-new trim level, the truth is that this is actually just a rebadged Zetec S.

Okay, that may be over-simplifying things a tad – the ST-Line's arrival has prompted a little bit of a refresh – but it isn't far off.

So what do you get for your (not inconsiderable) £15,795 outlay? Well, Ford will tell you that the deal-clincher is the ST-inspired bodykit, but you also get flashy alloys, lowered sports suspension and the Fiesta's excellent 1.0-litre EcoBoost petrol engine. Oh, and there's a handful of ST-Line badges thrown in, too.

The current Fiesta may effectively be eight years old now, but it still looks as fresh as a daisy. The gaping grille, sharp lines and perfect proportions have seen it top the UK sales charts month in, month out, and it shows no signs of stopping.

This ST-Line version certainly isn't about to damage that record. The full-blown ST looks fantastic, and this less powerful version gets some well-judged trimmings inspired by that 180bhp flagship. The suspension, which drops the ride height by 10mm, gives it a squat and sporty stance that's supplemented by the boy-racer grille, skirts and spoiler, but it's never too over the top. It isn't brash or vulgar, just a really smartly styled machine.

If there is a sticking point, it will be the interior, which looks like someone fired a blunderbuss full of buttons at the dashboard. Everywhere you look there's a button, apart from the tiny little infotainment screen at the top, and the cabin plastics all look a bit old and out-moded. Of course, this isn't a flaw specific to the ST-Line car, but you would have hoped that Ford could have sorted it all out a few years ago.

The ST-Line trim mostly adds aesthetic tweaks, rather than practical ones, so the normal Fiesta's dimensions have been retained. That means you've got plenty of room in the front, but rear passengers will feel a tad cramped. It's fine for children back there, but the lack of headroom means adults probably wouldn't want to sit there for long. Further back, the boot's 290-litre volume puts it marginally ahead of its key rival, the VW Polo, but it still trails behind the likes of the Skoda Fabia and Honda Jazz.

One of the main reasons for the Fiesta's success has been the way it drives, and the ST-Line car is no different. The lowered sports suspension does make it slightly firmer than a bog-standard Fiesta, but it doesn't get really jiggly unless you're going fast on a rough road. More importantly, though, the lower ride makes the car more responsive in the corners and less prone to body roll thanks to the lower centre of gravity.

With the 123bhp version of the 1.0-litre EcoBoost engine providing the power, our test car also proved perky enough to raise a smile without being scarily rapid. Like the Zetec S before it, the ST-Line really is a pint-sized barrel of non-threatening fun.

ST-Line prices start from just under £15,800, and for that you get three doors and a 99bhp version of the 1.0-litre EcoBoost engine that's nippier than it sounds. Standard kit includes 17-inch alloys, a 4.2-inch infotainment screen and a heated windscreen, plus all the aforementioned ST-Line accoutrements.

A more tempting proposition may well be the 123bhp version of the little EcoBoost engine found in our test car. It's only a £500 option and it cuts the 0-62mph time from 11.2 seconds to 9.4. It transforms the car from a smart-looking runabout to a genuine warm hatch. There's a 138bhp EcoBoost, too, but that's £300 more expensive than the 123bhp engine and only shaves a few tenths of a second from the 0-62mph time.

All the EcoBoost engines are relatively economical, with even the most powerful managing 62.8mpg on the combined cycle, but if you want something even more parsimonious, you can always have the 1.5-litre diesel engine. With 94bhp on tap, it's the slowest engine of the four, but the 11.7-second sprint to 62mph is respectable and the 78.5mpg economy is very attractive. The biggest catch is the £1,100 premium it commands over the 99bhp EcoBoost.

Mixture of brawn and sophistication

By Ian Donaldson

IT was very nearly worth the imminent onset of hypothermia to hear the rasp of this BMW's exhausts with roof lowered and throttle pressed with conviction.

Eventually the wind chill called a halt for roof erection (electrically, in seconds) but not before the car had registered a beguiling mix of brawn and sophistication.

Many people choose a drop top for its looks and the chance to hear the birds chirping and people mowing their lawns on a sunny summer's day.

Not so many want a near limitless stream of power that turns this ragtop into a genuine performance machine. For those that do, BMW will happily supply a new M240i, in coupe or cabriolet shape.

Sitting at the top of the BMW 2 Series range, the twosome gain a more powerful engine than before, up by 14 horses to a not inconsiderable 340 horsepower. That shaves 0.3 seconds off the zero to 62mph time – now 4.7 seconds if you choose an automatic gearbox – and quite enough to provide all the thrills you'll ever need on the way to work.

Or on some deserted stretch of smooth continental mountain pass, where you could knock the auto 'box (eight speeds and £1,600 extra) into manual and control the changes from the paddles behind the chunky leather wrapped steering wheel. Best to do this with the roof folded away, the better to hear the exhaust note's angry bark as each change goes through and the horizon fast forwards towards you.

Top speeds in all versions of the M140i and M240i are electronically limited to 155mph, which ought to be sufficient even on a clear stretch of unrestricted autobahn.

The twin turbocharged six-cylinder engines powering these mid-sized fun machines have been worked on by BMW's engineers so that there's improved economy and emissions along with the power lift. It means a reduction of up to seven per cent in the official average fuel consumption, with an impressive 39.8mpg with auto gears in the M140i and M240i Coupe and 38.2mpg for the heavier Convertible. CO2 figures are 163 and 169g/km for auto boxed cars and a bit worse (179/189) for models fitted with the six-speed manual gearbox.

Cleverly, BMW points out that prices for these more powerful newcomers remain unchanged (M140i £31,875, M240i Coupe £35,090, M240i Convertible £38,535) but running costs for anyone paying company car tax are down, thanks to the cleaner tailpipe emissions.

The M Sport versions talked about here all have firmer suspension but the Convertible has its own settings, a little softer to help cut to a minimum the near inevitable shimmy on bad roads caused when you chop the metal roof off a car and replace it with canvas. Even on poor roads you hardly notice and the delights of open top motoring (if you're so inclined) more than compensate for the modest extra vibration felt through the wheel.

Whichever version you choose there's a typical BMW cockpit awaiting you, where function wins over extravagant looks every time. It results in a cabin lacking the obvious glamour of a recent Mercedes, for instance, but one where the driver is very much king of his powerful empire. And it all works nicely, from clear digital speed readout to a big central screen, which can connect you to the outside world via a built-in SIM card and for £900 through a Professional navigation system (a simpler system is standard) that updates data free.

Not that getting lost behind the lovely six-cylinder engine would always be a bad thing. Keep the hood down and take the long way home.

Vauxhall reveals new model offensive in 'five-star' year

Vauxhall is set for a ground-breaking 2017, with a total of five major product launches that will add further variety to its range – already one of the largest in the UK – while at the same time entering new market segments.

Crucially, as well as the introduction of range-building derivatives, Vauxhall will bolster its credentials by offering a compelling alternative to 'premium' models in the D-sector with the all new Insignia Grand Sport, while also growing volume still further in the SUV/crossover class with not one, but two new models.

"2017 will be a landmark year for Vauxhall," said Rory Harvey, chairman and managing director. "Our portfolio will grow, for sure, but it's the quality and innovation which underpins our new products that will surprise customers. The Insignia Grand Sport will force buyers to reassess how they perceive our brand, and later in the year our two crossover offerings will bring Vauxhall to, in many cases, completely new sets of buyers."

Vauxhall's Five Stars of 2017:

1. The new Insignia Grand Sport will be the new flagship product of Vauxhall's range. Despite being a large and practical five-door hatchback, it will have a coupe-like silhouette, huge driver appeal and a class-leading all-wheel-drive

Ground-breaking 2017 year ahead for the Griffin badge system. Existing model still leads the mainstream D-sector in the UK, but Grand Sport is set to challenge premium rivals.

2. Hot on its heels will be the new Insignia Sports Tourer, taking many of its design cues from the 2013's visionary Monza Concept. Compared with the existing model, interior space has increased significantly, especially in the rear cabin and luggage area, but not at the expense of its design, which is lithe and rakish.

3. Completing the new Insignia range next year will be a Country Tourer model, complete with all-wheel-drive as standard and off-road looks. A genuine multi-task vehicle.

4. Vauxhall's recently launched Mokka X will be joined by the new Crossland X at the start of next year. The exciting crossover will appeal to buyers with families who demand agility and convenience in urban driving, but with enough comfort and performance to cover long distances at the drop of a hat.

5. Completing Vauxhall's SUV/ crossover family in 2017 will be a new C-segment crossover, similar in size to the Astra and Zafira Tourer, and with an especially sporty design.

City car offering space, good price and economy

The front grille is unusual with a three-bar design. The core engine in the Suzuki Celerio range is a 1.0-litre three-cylinder petrol unit developing a total of 66bhp at 6,000rpm and 89Nm of torque at 3,500rpm, so you're going to need to give the throttle pedal a bit of treatment to get anywhere. Especially if you opt for it with the brand's efficient AGS automatic gearbox. This system features an Intelligent Shift

Control Actuator positioned at the top of the transmission that operates the gearshift and clutch automatically. With AGS, the driver can enjoy the ease driving of an automatic in city traffic, but without any loss in fuel efficiency or increase in CO2 emissions that would normally be the case with a conventional torque converter equipped automatic transmission. There's even a low speed 'creep' facility which allows the car to move in gear without the accelerator being applied, ideal in slow traffic and when parking.

The alternative Celerio powerplant is another 1.0-litre petrol unit with the same output, this one using Suzuki's more efficient Dualjet technology. Power goes to the front wheels via a five-speed manual gearbox at first, but we suspect that most UK buyers will want to talk to their dealer about matching the Dualjet engine technology to Suzuki's Auto Gear Shift (AGS).

The Celerio probably isn't going to turn too many heads, being a fairly generic-looking citycar in the modern mould. That's not to say its styling lacks merit, just that it's nothing too adventurous. The most notable flourishes are probably the deeply sculpted flanks, with an arcing swage line that runs just below the door handles. The front grille is unusual, with a three-bar design that kinks upwards at each extremity into the big headlight pods.

Prices start at around £7,000 for the SZ2 version, rising to around £9,000 for the plush SZ4. If you're happy with the mid-range SZ3, then your dealer will offer you the option of Suzuki's more efficient 'Dualjet' 1.0-litre petrol engine – for a price premium of around £500. If instead, you had your eye on the top SZ4, there's the advantage that this trim level comes with the option of efficient AGS automatic transmission – for an £800 premium. This system features an Intelligent Shift Control Actuator positioned at the top of the gearbox that operates the gearshift and clutch automatically.

Standard specification highlights for the Celerio SZ3 include six airbags, ESP stability control, air conditioning, alloy wheels, DAB Radio, CD Tuner, USB, Bluetooth connectivity and remote central locking. The even higher equipped SZ4 model adds polished alloy wheels, rear electric windows, front fog lamps, body coloured door mirrors and chrome front grille.

The standard 1.0-litre triple engine makes some very respectable figures, eking 65.7 miles from a gallon of unleaded and emitting just 99g/km of carbon dioxide. Go for the AGS-equipped automatic model and there's no running cost penalty.

If you're happy with a stick-shift and don't mind a modest £500 price premium, then Suzuki's more modern Dualjet 1.0-litre petrol engine is a better bet in this car. This engine incorporates twin fuel injectors for improved fuel economy: Dualjet technology positions the fuel injectors very close to the engine inlet valves and allows for a finer fuel mixture which in turn provides a more effective transfer into the engine. This unit also incorporates a stop start facility when stationary. In Dualjet form, this Suzuki's combined cycle fuel consumption improves to 78.5mpg, while the CO2 return is enhanced to 84g/km. That'll make such a Celerio the cleanest and most fuel efficient new car on sale for less than £10,000.

Audi' Q2 SUV is a cool tool

By Ian Donaldson

CARS long ago ceased to be simply a means of getting from A to B. The new Audi Q2, for instance, is 'the latest tool for modern living,' according to its maker.

If that sounds about as emotionally involving as a plate of cold bratwurst, consider that this smallest SUV in the Audi range is also 'an essential life prop.' Peer through those lifestyle utterings and you'll find a car that deserves better than phrases that mean an empty nothing: it's a good drive and will sell in shedloads.

In fact, Audi reckons it will become the fourth best seller in its UK line up, with around 15,000 of them finding homes here each year (FYO: the A3 is top of the sales chart with double that number), but don't bet on Q2 numbers climbing.

Worldwide, around half of all new Audis are now SUVs, headed by the huge and faintly menacing bulk of the Q7, with the Q5 and Q3 following in descending size order. Now the Q2 doorstops the Audi SUVs with a car that manages to look chunky and tough without the visual thuggery of its older siblings. It also starts at the moment with £22,380 for a 1.4 litre petrol version, which looks positively bargain basement in Audi terms. And, before year end, there'll be an even cheaper 1.0 litre petrol model that will cost just £20,230 in entry level SE trim.

The current Q2 engine choice is between the 150 horsepower 1.4 TFSI or a 116 horsepower 1.6 litre TDI diesel with the latter a scant £100 dearer in all the three trim levels on offer – SE, Sport and S line.

Only 15 per cent of Q2 owners are likely to take their car at SE level, with most heading for the £1,550 dearer Sport models that add satellite navigation, cruise control, bigger alloy wheels, sports front seats, auto lights and wipers, a choice of four driving modes and modest bodywork changes to tell the cars apart.

Pay another £2,250 and you arrive at the S line, expected to woo a significant 40 per cent of sales with changes that include powerful LED headlights and rear lights but are mostly cosmetic and add a bit of the visual aggression of bigger Audi SUVs, from enlarged front air intakes to sculpted side sills.

If that's not enough, there is the Q2 Edition #1, starting at £31,170 and topping out at £35,730 for a 2.0 litre diesel with quattro four-wheel drive. Inside, you'll find sports seats in soft nappa leather and an LED package that includes dash and door inlays that light up softly.

Standard kit across the range includes low speed automatic braking if you're not paying attention and extra cash brings an instrument panel with TV screen definition, head-up display and adaptive cruise control that will take most of the drudgery out of slow speed driving by stopping and starting the car in line with the traffic ahead.

Audi sees the MINI Countryman as a key competitor and a comparison shows how relatively small the Q2 is, at 4191mm nose to tail only 94mm (or less than four inches) longer and a little lower and lighter and larger of boot into the bargain.

It doesn't look that small, and drives like a larger car too. If Audi was once knocked soundly for building cars with suspension too stiff for British roads (it was and it did) that no longer applies with the Q2.

The 1.4 TFSI petrol engine, matched to a fine 7-speed automatic gearbox (£1,550 extra) punted the car along very nicely indeed and showed 42.2mpg at journey's end.

A 1.6 diesel tried in most softly sprung SE trim actually coped markedly less well with poor roads, feeling stiff and unyielding at times. It also made more engine noise but pulled strongly and topped 55mpg on the same route.

Either engine sits nicely in a car that has hit the madly expanding desire for SUVs at precisely the right time, and at prices that are going to raise eyebrows – for the right reason.

Lazy days over as club looks to bounce back

CANNOCK Hockey Club have made a series of appointments to lead them back to the top after admitting they got 'lazy'.

Alex Hill has taken over as club captain from Tom Widdowson after the appointment of Gary Stacey as head coach of the men's first-team. The previous National League champions are looking to bounce back from relegation after 27 years in the top division.

Hill, who joined the club as a 12-year-old in 2003, previously coached in the junior section from the Under-11s to the Under-18s.

The club has also announced the appointment of two internationals supporting their under-16 and under-18 squads.

Louie Morris, aged 19, who has played for England under-18s, will continue to lead the under-16s while Callum Stacey, also 19, who has played Wales under-18s last year and is now in the senior squad, will take over the under-18s.

Complacent

Stacey, the son of head coach Gary, is back in the first-team squad after spending a year at National League side Olton and West Warwick gaining valuable experience.

In addition, Jude Hitchens has been appointed as the club's new community club development officer.

Hill admits the club's previous successes made them complacent but says there is a real determination to turn things around.

"Cannock Hockey Club has a fantastic history, having been champions of the National League and leading competitors across junior age group competitions for many years," he said.

"Sadly in recent years people have sat on this past success. We've been lazy. Our junior section needs rebuilding and our club is in need of real inspiration. "The current membership, including the first team and juniors, must create its own history and this time create a legacy that will last for decades.

"Losing our place in the national premier after 27 years last season was horrible for all that care about Cannock.

"However, it has given us time to reflect, and we have a new ethos at Cannock this year which is 'every member matters'.

"We want to be successful at first-team level but we want everyone at our club to feel cared for," he added.

"The appointment of Gary and now Jude will be crucial if we are to succeed with this.

"They both know the club inside out and most importantly they care about our club.

"I'm so excited about this season, I think it will be a real turning point in our future."

As regards his new role, Hill said: "My job is to oversee selection, review and develop the coaching team, support parents and help improve hockey across the club with the support of the newly-appointed coaches."

The new ethos is reflected by Cannock boasting training sessions suitable for all levels from ages of eight to 80.

Hitchens, who has played for Cannock Ladies for three decades, will take responsibility of developing the membership and promoting the sport in the community.

This will include developing links with both primary and secondary schools as well as launching a new back-2-hockey scheme. Cannock already has a satellite club set-up at Erasmus Darwin School in Chasetown and will look to set up competitions between local schools at their Chase Park base.

"I'm so happy to be playing such a key role at the club I love," said Hitchens.

"Cannock is the best hockey club in the Midlands, with its facilities, quality of its provision and success on the pitch.

"I can't wait to get started and spread the Cannock message."

Merging

The club also welcomes Chris Beck, who will working on social media coverage across all levels of the club.

Meanwhile, Cannock hockey club's junior section is merging with the ladies section for all members under 14.

This will mean all under-14s will train on the same evening and will also allow them to share resources and expertise.

Hill will oversee the development of both the players and coaches at under-16s and under-18s levels, creating a clearer pathway to Stacey and the first-team squad.

Cannock are seeking nine matchday sponsors as well as a main sponsor to appear on the first-team kit for next season.

Anyone interested should contact joint chairman Ian Gardner via igardner.uk@gmail.com

Sixth victory is best of the season

Burntwood 64 Handsworth 7 Midlands 3 West North

BURNTWOOD'S sixth league win of the season was undoubtedly the best so far.

For the second consecutive home game they passed 60 points. In front of a sizeable turnout of club patrons and spectators, the visitors kicked off but suffered a double blow inside the first two minutes.

They had to replace a player due to injury and then went behind following a penalty award against them. Sam Lloyd put his side in a great field position down the touchline for a line out. Josh Canning's catch was driven on by the forwards for Luke Rookyard to touch down for the only unconverted try of the game.

Handsworth then lost a second player due to a leg injury. Within three minutes Burntwood moved further ahead. Good passing released Ben Holt who sliced through for a try converted by Aza Dunet. After Dan Garrity went close from a chip and chase, Dunet sped to the line for a try which he also converted.

Dunet also added a penalty goal to his tally on the half hour mark. The Handsworth No 5 went on a run to the clubhouse corner for a try which was converted, making it 22-7 at half-time.

The bonus point try was not long in coming after the turnaround. Canning took the ball under the posts and Lloyd converted. On 51 minutes line out possession was moved wide for Holt to work a switch pass with Neil Holden and the winger's pacy run took him round to the posts to score. Lloyd converted. Luke Rookyard then intercepted to break over halfway, fed brother Owen who ran in unopposed for a try converted by Lloyd.

This was the first of four converted tries in the final quarter. On a good day for the club, the 2nds won at Handsworth 2nds and the 3rds defeated Shrewsbury 3rds at home. With no fixture for the 1st XV on Saturday, the spotlight falls on the 2nds away to Essington and the 3rds at home to Bloxwich 2nds.

Midfield problems are major factor in home defeat

Cannock United 2 Red Star Alma 3
A DISMAL afternoon saw Grant McCarty return to the side and bag two goals, while disarray in midfield left Cannock defeated.

The first half saw it honours even at the interval, even though Stuart Lewis and McCarty had created the better chances.

Cannock started the second half the brighter, scoring on 48 minutes through McCarty. However, the story of the season hit Cannock on 54 minutes as Terry Holbrook awarded Red Star Alma a penalty which Jordan Spragg converted.

It's fair to say that there was only one team on the pitch from then on, with Red Star dominating the game, adding a second on 59 through Connor Nelson. McCarty pulled it back to 2-2 on 63 minutes, but Cannock looked lost in midfield and on 68 minutes James Lewis put the visitors ahead.

On Saturday United are at Walsall Phoenix.

Lewis powers his way to title glory

Lewis Askey on course for time trial success

CHASETOWN student Lewis Askey powered his way to a first-place finish in a time trial at Thruxton circuit in Berkshire - and later claimed his second national title in a fortnight.

The 15-year-old Erasmus Darwin Academy pupil, riding for the RST team, already has national titles in road, track, cycle cross and mountain biking and this year decided to have a go at the time trial title and hill climb championships for the first time.

Askey was the penultimate rider to go in the youth category on the 11.7m course, equating to five laps of the circuit - and he finished in 25:07 minutes, one minute and 17 seconds ahead of Daniel Dixon of Gosforth Racing Club.

Next up was the national hill climb championships in Matlock, consisting of an 840m hill with an average gradient of 17 per cent with Askey competing against 240 riders. Setting off third, he completed the time trial in 2:45 but with each cyclist going off in 30 second intervals, he faced a long wait before the under-16 title was confirmed.

The Great Britain apprentice rider now goes into the winter focusing on endurance.

Scholars in a third home win on trot

Chasetown 5 Gresley 2

CHASETOWN made it three home wins on the bounce with a convincing display.

The home side took the lead in the ninth minute of this Evo-Stik Division One South game when a corner was cleared only as far as Peter Till who hit a first-time volley past an unsighted Rob Peet.

Matt Wood extended the lead with a thunderous left-foot shot which flew past Peet into the top corner.

Chasetown added a third with a superb team goal. Till crossed for striker Mitch Piggion who unselfishly headed on for skipper James Dance to net from a tight angle.

The Scholars went in for the kill and Ryan Walker barged over Josh Ruff when the winger surged into the box. Piggion took responsibility for the penalty and despatched it low to Peet's left.

Gresley did cut the arrears almost immediately with an effort by Pearson Mwanyongo from just inside the penalty area.

Five minutes from time the visitors sowed a seed of doubt in the home defence as Walker netted from a right-wing corner.

But substitute Pierce Kiambi was felled for a second home penalty and Jack Langston converted against his former club.

The Scholars were facing Carlton away on Tuesday before entertaining the world's oldest club, Sheffield FC, on Saturday. Kick-off at the Scholars ground is 3pm.

Hayes surrender a two-goal lead again

Heath Hayes 3 Racing Warwick 4

Midland League Division 1

ANOTHER Bonfire Night cracker of a game at Coppice Colliery saw Hayes surrender a two-goal lead for the second successive week.

Ryan Burns got Hayes off to a perfect start finishing off a slick four-man move with a fine volley. Charlie Ware then produced a superb piece of skill, bringing the ball down with one foot and lobbing the keeper with the other.

On the stroke of half-time Racing pulled a goal back through Luci Nwoso.

Racing equalised in the 58th minute when a Hayes corner was cleared upfield to Tom Malley who ran through to score.

Hayes then gifted the visitors two more goals. First, keeper Mark Wiggan pulled down Malley and Martin Slevin scored from the spot and then a poor back pass was seized on by Malley.

Olly Haywood scored to give Hayes hope but it was too late.

HERO CRANE SAVES THE DAY

Hednesford Town 1 Grantham 0

GOALKEEPER Dan Crane was the Hednesford Town hero as his penalty save made sure the Pitmen took the points thanks to George Carline's first-half header.

Boss Liam McDonald had made the decision to bring the long serving shot-stopper back into the starting line-up for the Evo-Stik League Premier Division clash and he was called into action in the seventh minute to deny Lee Shaw.

A minute later Cohen Bramall picked out Jamie Matthews but his header was palmed away before Carline saw his scrambled effort cleared off the line.

Crane was then forced to deal with a long range effort before Felipe Barcelos sent a looping header wide of the upright in the 27th minute.

Joel Logan fired over the bar following a mazy run, while at the other end a visiting free kick was comfortably dealt with.

Delivered

The hosts made the breakthrough after 40 minutes when a set-piece delivered into the area by Tom Thorley saw Carline rise to head home.

Hednesford should have doubled their lead a minute later when Matthews broke through but he delayed his shot and Kieran Preston in the visiting goal denied him.

Carline saw a goalbound effort blocked away in the 62nd minute before Simeon Maye stabbed an effort over the bar from a Thorley corner.

Grantham were given a great chance to level the scores from the penalty spot on 66 minutes after Jim Mutton was adjudged to have handled. But Crane guessed right to superbly keep out Barcelos's penalty.

The shot-stopper was called into action again in the 78th minute to thwart Shaw after a neat one-two had seen him advance into the penalty area.

Bragging rights are at stake this weekend, as well as a place in the next round of the FA Trophy, as Stafford Rangers are the visitors to Keys Park for a 3pm kick off on Saturday.

Building for better football future

Taylor Wimpey West Midlands supports Cresswell Colts with new kit and equipment

A JUNIOR football team will be getting their new season off to a flying start thanks to a cash boost from housebuilder Taylor Wimpey West Midlands.

The developer, currently building homes at its Burntwood Manor development in Burntwood, has donated more than £1,250 to the Cresswell Colts over the last three years. The money has been used towards purchasing new kits and equipment for the players.

The contribution will be put towards match balls, training balls and corner flags for the under-13s team.

Under-13s manager David Smith said: "Once the youngsters leave the academy when they are six, each manager is responsible for finding funding and sponsorship for their team.

"It's great having the ongoing support from Taylor Wimpey as it's meant that the youngsters are able to play and train with new equipment.

"I've been managing the team for the last seven years, and in that time we've worked our way up from division five to division two."

Elaine Cartwright, regional sales and marketing director for Taylor Wimpey, said: "We feel that it's very important to support our local communities and are delighted to be helping the Cresswell Colts for another year. We'd like to wish the team every success for the season."
